EMPRESS AN DEAD; PART OF INTRIGUE?

Real Ruler of China Expires Within Twenty-four Hours of Nominal Emperor's Death.

FOUL PLAY IS FEARED.

Conflicting Tone of Edicts Excites Suspicion and Rumors of Disorders in Palace Follow.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Nov. 16, 3 a. m.—The Peking correspondent of the Times says the unexpected death of the empress dowager excites suspicions of foul play.

In a decree issued late Saturday night by the empress dowager appointing Pu Yi emperor and Prince Chun regent there was no indication of any impairment of vitality. On the contrary, the dowager enjoined the regent to act in conformity with her instructions. A decree issued at noon in the name of the new emperor announced that he had received the following from the dowager:

"At this moment I am desperately ill and fear that I cannot recover. Hereafter all government affairs of the empire are intrusted to the prince regent. Should serious questions arise the regent must personally request advice of the new empress dowager."

The dowager died at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. All accounts agree that the new dowager is a complete nonentity, but that the widow of Wung Lu, the new regent's mother-in-law, is a woman of strong character. She was an intimate friend of the late dowager and is certain to exercise an important influence on the new regime.

Foul Play and Disorder Rumored.

There are rumors of disorder in the palace and its precincts.

Countless rumors are afloat regarding the nature of the emperor's final illness and the manner of his death. No scientific medical opinion is obtainable, but the general description of the symptoms indicates that neurasthenia was the direct cause of death. Palace officials say the emperor had been in a state of coma since last Thursday evening with a period of consciousness on Saturday, when the dowager sent the chief eunuch to attend him.

They say the emperor refused to be removed to the pavilion of peaceful longevity, thus violating the precedents which prescribe the death place of China's rulers. Eventually he died without having donned robes proper for the occasion in the same quarter of the palace where he was confined after his coup d'etat in 1896. His relations with the dowager were strained until the last.

A dispatch from Sydney, N. S. W., says that the Chinese reform party in that city received a cablegram to the effect that the death of the Chinese emperor was due to foul play, and that it is feared a rebellion will break out in China.

Foreign troops are taking precautions to protect residents from abroad. The British contingent has been increased by the arrival of 80th Highlanders from Tien Tsin.

INFANT PLACED ON THRONE.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PEKING, Nov. 15.—The dowager empress died at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Prince Chun is ruling as regent for his infant son Pu-Yi, who now is emperor, having succeeded Kuang-Hsu who died yesterday. Yuan Shih Kai, viderov of Pechili and president of the board of foreign affairs is in control of affairs generally. The city is quiet.

The announcement of the dowager empress' death was official and followed closely upon the announcement that Kuang-Hsu, the emperor, had died yesterday at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, but it is believed that the deaths of both the emperor and dowager empress occurred a considerable time before that set down in the official statements.

An edict issued at 8 o'clock this morning placed upon the throne Prince Pu-Yi, the 3 year old son of Prince Chun, the regent of the empire, in accordance with a promise given by the dowager empress soon after the marriage of Prince Chun in 1903. An edict issued on Friday made Pu-Yi heir presumptive.

Legations Notified and Guarded.

The foreign legations were notified this morning by the foreign board of the death of the emperor and the succession of Prince Pu-Yi. Troops have been in readiness for several days to quell any disorders that might arise on the death of Kuang-Hsu, and the possibility of uprisings was made greater because of the fact that the death of the dowager empress was known to be close at hand.

Two divisions of troops have been held in reserve, and these are now stationed in various quarters of the city. Twenty gendarmes were dispatched to guard the approaches to the legations, but up to the present the duties of the forces have been slight. It was announced that the legation guard was ordered out at "the special call of the legations on account of the emperor's death."

Prince Chun, the regent, has ordered the viceroys and governors to take precautions for the continuation of the administration of the provinces as heretofore, and he has ordered a hundred days of mourning. The court will go into mourning for three years.

Peking already has been greatly transformed; all red objects have been removed and blue substituted. The people learned this evening of the death of the dowager empress, and although the Chinese are in newise emotional, they showed that they were profoundly impressed by the passing of their powerful ruler. The foreigners in the city are watching the strange ceremonies with great interest. As the palace elaborate rites are being observed, and a flood of edicts has been sent forth.

Died as Sovereigns of Old.

Deathbed observances of three thousand years ago marked the passing of the emperor and dowager. They died alone and unattended, although surrounded by circles of abject spectators, who remained, a rod distant, as on account of the sacred persons of their majesties they could not be approached. The emperor died as he had lived, without ministration of whatever kind or scientific aid. For months he had refused to permit the services of foreign physicians, and, although it was stated that he had gone back to the old form of medical treatment, it is believed that latterly he received no treatment at all.

The government has given out that the

WIFE OF EDWARDS OPPOSES WEDDING

Woman Leaves New York for Asheville, N. C., to Stop Marriage of Mrs. Eastman.

APART FOR FOUR YEARS.

Wealthy Virginian Said to Have Neglected His Bride After Happy Period at Norfolk, Va.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—After tearing into shreds photographs of her husband, Mrs. Baker Edmund Edwards, formerly Miss Lettie Nowland of this city, left New York tonight for Asheville, N. C., with the avowed purpose of preventing her husband from wedding Mrs. Sophie Harrison Eastman.

The prominence of the principals to the controversy and many singular circumstances in the case caused an intense commotion in the fashionable Asheville colony, but only fragments of the affair reached New York until Mrs. Edwards' identity was revealed by her departure for the south tonight.

Mrs. Edwards Protege of Calve.

Mr. Edwards is the son of one of the wealthiest families in Norfolk. In 1896 he was married to Miss Lettie Nowland, a talented young singer, and a protege of Mme. Calve. She was well known at that time in musical circles and her talent and her beauty attracted the wealthy young southerner and they were married at the Little Church Around the Corner, after a romantic courtship.

Following the marriage they went to Norfolk to live, where they occupied a fine house in the most aristocratic part of Norfolk. Mr. Edwards inherited a fortune from his father and for a few years life ran on pleasantly with the young couple, and then Mrs. Edwards began to complain of neglect. Matters went from bad to worse until about a year ago, when Mrs. Edwards came to New York to live with her aunt, Mrs. Schuman of 30 West Eighteenth street.

Her husband had agreed to send her a stipulated amount each month, but at the end of the sixth month, she told her relatives, the remittances stopped and she had heard nothing from him until several days ago she saw in the newspapers his name coupled with that of Mrs. Eastman.

Gave Up Career for Husband.

Mrs. Edwards is of a stately brunette type, with striking figure and features, and always has been greatly admired. At the time of her marriage she was about to sign an engagement to sing in grand opera, but gave up all thought of a professional career after becoming the wife of the wealthy young Virginian.

Mr. Edwards is said to have many prominent and wealthy relatives in St. Louis and other southern cities.

It was stated in a dispatch from Asheville tonight that Mrs. Eastman will attend the trial of her case tomorrow, to be held at some point outside of Asheville, and will return to Asheville for the wedding.

Mrs. J. Robert Hunter of 49 Berkeley place, Brooklyn, a sister of Mrs. Edwards, said tonight that Edwards had visited his wife as recently as last September, although they had been living apart practically four years. She said Mr. and Mrs. Edwards had lived at 176 Sixth avenue, Brooklyn, for two years.

COL. M'BEE RENEWS HIS THREATS.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—"I am not holding out any olive branches, but I am willing to talk sense with Preston Harrison tomorrow. This case has got to a point where both sides have got to bow out gracefully quick or there will be the biggest scandal North Carolina ever saw."

Col. V. E. McBee, who faces Mrs. Sophie Harrison Eastman in court in Hendersonville tomorrow morning in the first round of the legal battle for control of the Buck Shoals property, tonight gave this as his attitude in the case. Col. McBee is ready for a settlement, but says he must have the $10,000 that he considers due him in the dissolution of the Buck Shoals corporation.

Unless William Preston Harrison will agree to this sum, which is $10,000, tomorrow, the colonel says the case will be pushed to the limit and the criminal trial of Mrs. Eastman and Baker E. Edwards of Norfolk, Va., whom she is to marry this week, will be taken up Thursday. Col. McBee is at the Gates hotel in Hendersonville waiting for the trial. He left Buck Shoals after getting a clean shirt and giving orders about killing hogs.

Relatives Want Her to Leave.

Mrs. Eastman, Mr. Harrison, Mrs. Heaton Owsley, and Mr. Edwards all drove over to Buck Shoals this afternoon from the Skyland hotel, where they are staying. Mrs. Owsley is anxious to have her sister give up her claims to the property and leave this country. She dreads to face the trials.

"I am not anxious to hurt Sophie Eastman," says Col. McBee, "but she and Edwards have brought this to a point where I can't withdraw, and I won't be kicked out. I am not afraid of becoming unpopular. I am not running for office."

Riflemen All Around Place.

Mrs. Owsley and Mrs. Harrison went out hunting persimmons on the mountain sides during the morning today. After an old fashioned country dinner at a farmhouse they and their husbands and Mrs. Eastman started for a drive over the mountains to Mrs. Eastman's home. When they reached the estate dogs came out and a man with a rifle on one knee arose from a sunny seat near the well and sauntered over to the carriages. He was one of the custodians left by the court to guard the property. Another man came out of the kitchen with another gun.

The front doors were kept locked, so Mrs. Eastman led the way through the kitchen. Here were cots with more guns lying across them, and the hall rack was a regular armory. Mrs. Eastman was relieved to find that Col. McBee had decamped again. She went over primarily to get a wedding gown and anticipated some difficulty in case the former manager was found on the estate.

The house was in great disorder. Rich draperies and laces were tumbled over, and cut glass and silver plate worth thousands of dollars littered up the rooms. All looked a little like a museum. Mrs. Eastman showed everything, even the pigs and chickens. She said she would rather lose most anything else in the world than this "home of rest and peace and beauty so far from the cities."

MISSING PRISCO GIRL IS HERE

Edna Clark, Who Disappeared Two Weeks Ago, in Chicago.

TALKS IN RECTOR'S DEFENSE

Declares Clergyman Never Kissed Her, Although He Says He Did.

Miss Edna Clark, 19 years old, for whom the San Francisco police have been searching for more than two weeks, was found in Chicago last night at the Paulist day nursery, 15 Eldredge court.

She disappeared from her home at Alameda, a suburb of San Francisco, Oct. 27, after drawing $200 from her personal account in an Oakland bank. She left no word as to where she was going, and since her disappearance the newspapers of the California city have worked indefatigably to find some trace of her.

It had been hinted that the girl was engaged to marry the Rev. Payson Young, rector of St. Mary the Virgin Episcopal church of San Francisco. In a letter to Edna Reynolds, a chum of Miss Clark, which was made public after the girl's disappearance, Edna referred to the Rev. Mr. Young as her sweetheart.

Rector Admits Kissing Her.

Miss Reynolds also told the police that Miss Clark had confided to her that she had often been kissed by the rector.

After the disappearance of Miss Clark, the rector issued a statement in which he said he knew the girl only distantly. He admitted, however, that he had kissed her once or twice. Rector Young sought to involve the Rev. Joseph Vincent, at one time a Chicago clergyman of the Independent Polish Catholic church.

Rector Young went into retirement after the girl's affectionate letter toward him was disclosed. Bishop Nicholas of the diocese of California, appointed a court of inquiry to investigate the conduct of the rector.

Writes Letter to Her Mother.

Mrs. Anita Mack, mother of Miss Clark, received a letter from her daughter yesterday, which was written from Chicago Nov. 11. She told her mother that she was living at 15 Eldredge court under the name of Edwards Chase.

When seen at the Paulist nursery Miss Clark had just returned from vespers at St. Mary's church, having been accompanied by Miss Dowd, matron of the nursery.

"I did not leave California with Father Young, and it is a cruel thing to mention his name in connection with my disappearance. Neither did I leave with the Rev. Mr. Vincent. I knew Mr. Vincent only through having heard Father Young speak of him. I think he went from Chicago to San Francisco, and intended to join the Episcopal church.

But the Girl Says He Didn't.

"Father Young never kissed me in his life. That is a malicious falsehood. There was nothing between us, beyond the respect that a pastor bears toward a member of his church. We were not engaged to be married—it is ridiculous to make any such statement. I thought a great deal of Father Young, and I presume he liked me, although he never displayed any affection. We were good friends, that was all."

Miss Clark arrived in Chicago two weeks ago. She was living in a Wabash avenue rooming house near St. Mary's church, and made the acquaintance of Father Harper on going to the parish house to inquire about a place to stay. He recommended her to Matron Dowd of the nursery, at which institution women are given sleeping accommodations.

Since coming to Chicago Miss Clark has been employed at a State street confectionery store.

BARRICADED BLACK KILLS 4; SHOT, FIRES HIS OWN HOUSE.

Oklahoma Sheriff, Policeman, Two Deputies, and Desperado Die in Battle Following Beating of Boy.

Okmulgee, Okla., Nov. 15.—Five persons were killed and ten others wounded this afternoon in a fight between Jim Deckard, a negro desperado, and law officers.

The dead include the sheriff of Okmulgee county, the assistant chief of police of Okmulgee, two deputy sheriffs, and Deckard.

The disturbance began when Deckard engaged in a fight with an Indian boy, Steve Grayson, and beat him into insensibility with a rock.

Friends of Grayson notified the police and when Policeman Klaber went to the station Deckard fled to his house nearby and barricaded himself in. As Klaber approached Deckard shot and killed him.

Sheriff Robinson gathered a posse in a few minutes and hurried to the scene. Part of this posse was made up of a group of negroes, whom the sheriff commissioned as deputies.

As the posse approached the house Deckard opened fire with a rifle. The sheriff fell first, instantly killed. Then two others of the posse were slain.

Deckard's house was soon surrounded by a frenzied mob of armed men. Fire was set to a house just north of it. Volleys were poured into Deckard's house and he was shot down.

He was seen to roll over on the floor, strike a match, and set fire to his own house, which was soon a roaring furnace in which his body was burned.

POLICE TERRIER LOCKED UP.

"Danger" Nearly Upsets Lieutenant at Desplaines Street Station and Is Deprived of Liberty.

"Danger," a small fox terrier, for two months the pride of the Desplaines street police station, will be barred from the squadroom at roll call hereafter because it has repeatedly broken up the ranks of the rotund policemen as they stood in line.

Trouble started last night when "Danger" broke in upon the squad of sixty stalwarts as they listened to Lieut. White read the nightly instructions. With a heavy broom in its mouth, the little fox terrier dashed among the men, almost upsetting the lieutenant, and appeared an instant later in close pursuit of a cat that had strayed into the sleeping quarters.

The cat escaped by leaping through an open window, but "Danger" was caught by the indignant lieutenant and ordered locked up downstairs.

TORREY CONVERT IS ARRESTED.

Man Who "Confessed" to Robberies After Religious Meeting to Puzzle Police Again Occupies Cell.

Arthur Kennedy, who attended one of the revival services of the Rev. R. A. Torrey a year ago and then "confessed" to a series of burglaries on the north shore, is again a prisoner at the Desplaines street station. Kennedy, the police say, stole a valuable overcoat belonging to W. G. Potter, 3022 West Adams street.

"Sure, I'm the man who was locked up after the religious meeting," he said last night, "and the best of it is that even Mr. Torrey visited me while I was a prisoner. I didn't commit any of the robberies I confessed to, but for a time I kept the police guessing. My wife came to my rescue, though, after I had got in bad on the 'confession.'"

Kennedy lives at 128 Walnut street.

NO BETROTHAL, SAYS ELKINS

Senator Denies Engagement of His Daughter to Abruzzi.

HIGH REGARD FOR THE DUKE

Statement Made in Washington with Family's Knowledge.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—Senator Stephen B. Elkins tonight made the emphatic announcement that no engagement exists between his daughter, Miss Katherine Elkins, and the duke of the Abruzzi.

The statement was made, it was said, with the knowledge and consent of Miss Elkins, who desired that it should be given to the public.

Senator Elkins arrived in Washington from his West Virginia home today. He was asked if he cared to make any announcement concerning the reported engagement of his daughter.

Statement of Senator Elkins.

In response he dictated the following:

"I do not care to say anything further than that my daughter and the duke of the Abruzzi are not engaged to be married, and that I regret exceedingly the annoyance that must have come to the duke and his family by reason of the almost daily discussion of the matter in the press and the constant publication of rumors for so long a time, rumors which I venture to hope will now cease."

Has Great Regard for the Duke.

While the senator made it clear that Miss Elkins and the duke of the Abruzzi are not engaged, that he entertains for the duke the highest regard was evidenced by the reply which he made to an inquiry as to how well he was acquainted with the duke.

"Not very well," he replied, frankly, "but from what I know and have heard of him I regard him as not only a distinguished personality by reason of his birth and position, but, added to this, he is an able man of the highest character, a well known explorer and scientist—one who has done things and accomplished much—besides being an efficient officer of high rank in the navy of his country."

Mrs. Elkins and Miss Katherine Elkins are yet at their West Virginia home, but they expect in the near future to join the senator in Washington.

SNAKES SEEN BY TIPSY MEN ARE DECLARED TO BE REAL.

Theosophical Lecturer Says They Are Astral Serpents Made Visible to the Psychic Eye by Alcohol.

Are the snakes real that a drunken man sees? L. W. Rogers, national lecturer for the Theosophical society, says they are. In a lecture in Handel hall yesterday Mr. Rogers said:

"The drunken person who sees snakes actually sees them on the astral plane. The intoxicated state serves to develop the psychic eye and thus objects are seen on the astral plane instead of the physical.

"The horrors that the intoxicated man sees are perfectly real on the plane that his vision is focused. It is Karma on the astral plane that is punishing the man for his violation of the law of sobriety. The penalties meted out on the astral plane are as painful as the penalties which men suffer in the material world."

ORDERED TO TURN EVANGELIST.

Sterling, Ill., Merchant Obeys Command from on High to Sell $40,000 Stock.

Sterling, Ill., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—J. H. Ahrens, owner of a $40,000 stock of merchandise, says he received a wireless message from heaven to sell his stock and become an evangelist, and he obeyed the command.

PAGEANTRY OPENS CATHOLIC COUNCIL

Papal Legate, Archbishops, and Bishops March to Cathedral for Gorgeous Ceremonial.

THOUSANDS LINE WAY.

Prelates Occupy Scores of Pulpits in Evening and Missionary Discussions Begin Today.

In the Cathedral of the Holy Name in the city of Chicago the first step in the great missionary congress which is to mark a far reaching change in the policy of the Roman Catholic church in the United States and Canada was taken yesterday morning, when Papal Legate Diomede Falconio celebrated solemn pontifical high mass, marked by the singing of the Gregorian chant, illustrative of Pope Pius' ideas as to church music. Following close upon the initial religious pageant came other festivities and ceremonies spreading out in a widening circle until in the evening tens and scores of thousands of men and women and hundreds of clergymen of all degrees had joined in the oratory and the prayer, the deliberations and the hymns of praise.

The chief event of the afternoon was a luncheon to 200 visiting priests and prelates, a banquet attended by 900 leading laymen of Illinois, and addresses by clergymen and laymen of international reputation at the Auditorium hotel. In the evening there were special services in eighty-six of the largest churches of the city, at which sermons were delivered by distinguished priests and prelates.

Gorgeous Pageant Precedes Mass.

The greatest day in the history of the Catholic church in Chicago, and perhaps in the United States, was opened by an imposing procession of a majority of the hierarchy of the church in this country, bishops, mitered abbots, monsignori, archbishops, and priests, between rows of glittering drawn swords in the hands of distinguished laymen of the Catholic faith, and thousands of loyal sons and daughters of the church.

The gorgeous pageant proceeded from the doors of the cathedral college and the Holy Name parish house at the corner of Superior and Cass streets north on Cass street to Chicago avenue, west on Chicago avenue to State street and south on State street to the doors of the cathedral.

The sun broke through the November mists just as the 500 Knights of Columbus of the Fourth Degree, assembled from all parts of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan for the occasion, marched from the cathedral college in sword and baldric to line the route of the procession.

Stately March Begins.

As soon as they were in place the doors of the parish house opened and two by two in purple cassock and white surplice the choir boys marched out, 100 in number, and ranging in age from 7 years to 17.

Behind them came about 300 visiting priests, also in white surplices, but with black cassocks, and following them the higher dignitaries of the church. First came the monsignori in Roman purple, with black biretta topped with purple. Following them were the mitered abbots, their vestments the same as those of the monsignori, but each garbed in the color of his order, Benedictines in black and Trappists in white.

The greatest showing in numbers was made by the bishops, fifty-one of the eighty-nine American bishops being in line. Each was attended by two chaplains, distinguished priests, delegates to the congress from all parts of the country. Their brilliant purple robes were set off by the sober black and white of their chaplains, and it seemed but an instinctive act when the 500 men who lined the way drew their swords and brought them to a reverential salute to their spiritual lords. Their robes were the same as those of the monsignori, but upon their breasts gleamed the insignia of their office, the pectoral cross.

Huge Cross Precedes Archbishops.

The choir boys, with their hands prayerfully folded, were already marching up the great middle aisle of the cathedral to the roll and murmur of the organ when the seven archbishops who closed the procession left the doors of the parish house.

Ahead of Archbishop Quigley, glittering in the sun and visible for many blocks, was carried his archiepiscopal cross, a massive crucifix of gold, born by the Rev. Christian Rempis, assisted by two acolytes. The archbishop wore the cappa magna, a great purple cloak, the train of which was born by two boys in cassock and surplice, and a magnificent hood of white ermine. His deacons also were distinguished from those who had preceded by their gold embroidered yellow vestments. Following the archbishop was the only layman in the procession beside the acolytes, Ambrose Petry, a Knight of St. Gregory the Great, in the full uniform of his order, conferred upon him for his services in the cause of church extension.

Walks Last and in Somber Gray.

Last in the procession and most important of all, walked the personal representative of the sovereign pontiff of the Catholic church, Archbishop Falconio, apostolic delegate to the United States, attended by deacons and acolytes. But in spite of all the honors that have been won by the representative of Pope Pius X., the most noticeable thing about him was his membership in the Franciscan order of monks. For in place of gorgeous gold and purple the papal legate from his beretta and the great fur hood that fell over his shoulders to the end of the train of his cappa magna, was clad in the quiet gray of the Franciscan monk. For when Friar Diomede Falconio took the vows of the priesthood in the Franciscan monastery in western New York in 1866, it meant that no matter how high he might rise in the ranks of the church he could never cease to be a monk of the order nor wear vestments of any other color than the humble gray.

Great Choruses Greet Bishops.

As the first of the bishops entered the cathedral choir 100 men in the gallery and 100 boys before the sanctuary burst into the opening chorus, "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus." "Hail to the Great Priest," by Sir Edward Elgar. Slowly the procession filed up the center aisle of the cathedral between 2,000 standing men and women. The bishops and archbishops took their places in the sanctuary and the other clergy occupied a space reserved for them in the body of the church.

another picturesque touch was added to the interesting scene by the presence of over 100 nuns, representing many orders, who sat in the north transept.

Archbishop Quigley and the papal legate, who was to be the celebrant of the mass, were seated in high thrones on either side of the main altar, on which were laid the vestments of the mass. Archbishop Falconio was ceremoniously clothed in the vestments, the introit, "Salve Sancte Parens," was sung, and then the choir broke into a remarkable rendition of the "Kyrie Eleison." The impressive chorus from the "Missa de Angelis" was chanted alternately in the deep bass of the men in the gallery and the clear soprano and alto of the boys at the altar rail.

After the gospel there was a striking interruption in the imposing ceremonies when a young priest in plain black cassock mounted the pulpit and read the usual routine announcements of the parish.

Archbishop Blenk Preaches.

Following him in startling contrast to his humble announcements came the Most Rev. James H. Blenk, Archbishop of New Orleans, one of the leading orators of the church, who preached with the broad outlook of a high prelate of the church on its history and destiny in this nation.

The text from which the archbishop preached was the following from Matthew: "'Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, and teaching them all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and behold I am with you always, even unto the consummation of the world. He that is not with me is against me and he that gathereth not with me scatereth.'

"In the lives of peoples and nations as well as in the lives of individuals great and solemn moments come," he said, "moments when we stand in the presence of an all pervading, all potential fact out of which grow achievements that leave upon all the future history of the individual or the nation an effaceable mark. One such moment came and passed into history when in April, 1808, the holy father founded in these United States the first Catholic bishopric.

World Power in Ecclesiastics.

"One hundred years have passed, in whose course the aspect of the world has changed and a modern civilization has struck its roots, powerful and good, dangerous and destructive as well deep into a new soil, a hundred years during which there has grown up the greatest empire of free men the world has ever seen, the vastest and strongest of republics, the land in which we live and which we love, and now we have come to another great crisis in the history of our nation and our faith.

"The United States has long been a world power politically and now the holy father has made us a world power ecclesiastically. We are no longer to be under the jurisdiction of the propaganda. We are no longer to be fostered and taken care of. We must take up our burden and go forth and preach the gospel to all nations.

"The nations of the old world, the nations that sent discoverers over unknown waters to plant the cross of Christ on these shores, the nations that sent missionaries to bear that cross at the sacrifice of their lives to every corner of the new world have done their share. And now our hour has come and our eternal success or failure depends in a large measure upon our success in obeying the mandate of Jesus Christ, and of his vicar on earth. 'Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Holy Ghost.'

Archbishop Blenk spoke of the different parts to be played in the work by the clergy and the laity, the necessity of foreign missions, and the work to be done at home in combating atheism, socialism, and divorce.

Following the sermon the ordinary of the mass was again taken up and proceeded until the benediction, when the message of Pope Pius X. was read in both Latin and English and the papal benediction, carrying with it an indulgence of 100 days, was conferred by Archbishop Falconio upon the reverently kneeling throng.

At the conclusion of the mass the congregation rose to sing the recessional, the jubilee hymn of Pope Pius, "Long Live the Pope," after which the choir boys, priests, and prelates marched down the center aisle of the cathedral and back to the parish house by the same route used by the opening procession.

Officers of the Mass.

The officers of the mass were as follows:

Deacon of honor—The Very Rev. A. P. Doyle, C. S. P., rector of the Apostolic Mission house of Washington, and the Very Rev. John Willms, C. S. Sp., of Pittsburg, director of the Association of the Holy Childhood.

Assistant priest—The Rev. M. J. FitzSimmons, rector of the Holy Name cathedral.

Deacon—The Rev. E. Hoban, assistant chancellor of the Chicago archdiocese.

Master of ceremonies—The Rev. Dennis J. Dunne.

Assistant masters of ceremonies—The Rev. A. F. Purcell, D. D., rector of the Cathedral college, and the Rev. Joseph Phelan.

Deacons to the archbishop of Chicago—The Very Rev. W. H. Ketcham of Washington, director of the bureau of Indian missions, and the Very Rev. John E. Burke of New York, director of the bureau of negro missions.

Archbishop's cross bearer—The Rev. Christian Smeenge.

Musical director—Prof. B. H. Wortmann.

At the close of the mass at 2 o'clock, the visiting prelates and the priests who are entertaining them during their visit to Chicago were given a luncheon by Archbishop Quigley in the assembly hall of the cathedral school.

Police Make One Arrest.

During the celebration of the mass a small man standing at the back of the church interested the ushers. The ushers take his card to Archbishop Falconio, and he became so insistent in his demands that the attention of the police was directed to him and Sergeant George Pearsall of East Chicago avenue police station took the man out of the church and turned him over to Detective James Troy. At the police station he said his name was J. C. McCune and that he came from Nevada. It is believed the man is unbalanced.

The afternoon banquet at the Auditorium hotel was given by the northern Illinois jurisdiction of the fourth degree of the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic order in strong sympathy with all movements of the church, in honor of the visiting prelates and Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of Canada, a member of the privy council of the British empire, and of the International Court of Arbitration at The Hague.

The reception at 4:30 more than crowded the parlors of the hotel, and when the 900 guests assembled in the large banquet hall on the ninth floor, the assembly proved one of the most enthusiastic that had occupied the room in several years.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, who, as one of the three organizers of the church extension movement in Canada a year ago, is one of the honored visitors at the congress, was the principal speaker of the post-prandial program. His chief point was the necessity of church extension work in the western part of the dominion in order that Catholicism may hold its own in the rapidly developing country.

Sees Religious Awakening.

He first took up the subject of religious activity in America, saying:

"The new awakening is in answer to an appeal made not by one of God's prophets but, as it were, by the voice of God himself. We have each one of us heard it—in our homes, in the streets, in the church, and in the busy markets of trade. In answer we are together here from the storm beaten shore of the Atlantic, from the sunshad, smiling slopes of the Pacific, the land of the orange grove, and the home of the Canadian pine.

"I said this was a time of great religious awakening. All Christendom seems alive to the necessity of further religious effort, and in the general movement the Roman Catholic church must be in the front rank. To that church was given by its divine founder the instruction, 'Go ye and teach all nations,' and there is a heritage of glory connected with Catholic missionary movements which puts upon us heavy obligations.

"There is no part of the habitable globe where men and women of your church have not given their lives for the propagation of the gospel; but when I speak of the church I do not mean the clergy alone, for the laymen have their share of duties and responsibilities. We must first live our lives in the broad glare of noonday and be examples to all men of purity and honesty. We must further give of the abundance of our store to forward the good work."

Bishop Muldoon Toasts Pope.

The Rt. Rev. P. J. Muldoon cut short his remarks because several speakers on the program were in a hurry to fill evening appointments, but he asked the assembly to join him in a toast to the pope.

"Holy father," he said, "we wish thee well. May thy years be many and thy victories great."

The Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Kondelka, auxiliary bishop of Cleveland, traced the history of the Catholic movement among Bohemians in America, emphasizing the stress of the early days and closing with a cheerful exposition of improved conditions today.

The Rt. Rev. Patrick J. Donahue, bishop of Wheeling, W. Va., proved himself the humorist of the evening. He insisted that he could not answer to the toast. "A Voice from the South," as he came from West Virginia, which was not a part of the "solid south." He made a strong plea for virtuous, chaste living.

Thomas H. Cannon, who spoke of the layman's part in the church extension movement, dwelt for a time upon the statement of President Roosevelt that the religious convictions of a presidential candidate were a private affair, and should have no consideration in connection with his qualifications for office.

Among the other laymen who spoke were Daniel Colwell of Hartford, Conn., national secretary of the Knights of Columbus; William P. Breen of Fort Wayne, Ind.; James J. Kennedy of New Haven, Conn.; Dr. J. K. Barrett of Winnipeg, Patrick J. Haldigan of Washington, D. C., and William F. Ryan of Chicago.

Same Sermon in 86 Pulpits.

The eventful day reached a spectacular climax when at 7:30 o'clock in the evening services were begun in eighty-six of the churches of Chicago, at each of which some abbot, bishop, monsignore, archbishop, or distinguished priest delivered a sermon on the same subject, "The Missionary Spirit."

It is estimated that between 150,000 and 200,000 people in the one city were thus simultaneously aroused by the most eloquent speakers of the church to an appreciation of the meaning and importance of the congress. The program, as printed in THE TRIBUNE of Nov. 8, was carried out in each of the four score churches.

The place of honor for the evening, the pulpit at the Cathedral of the Holy Name, was given to the Most Rev. Fergus Patrick McEvay, archbishop of Toronto. The religious services at the cathedral were solemn pontifical vespers and benediction, celebrated by Archbishop Quigley, and the conferring of the papal benediction by Archbishop Falconio. A letter conveying the good wishes of Pope Pius X. to the congress, printed in full in another column, was also read by the Very Rev. Francis Clement Kelley.

The deacons of honor to the papal legate were the Very Rev. A. E. Burke, president of the Catholic Church Extension society of Canada, and the Rev. F. Kidd, secretary of the archdiocese of Toronto. The assistant priest was the Rev. M. J. FitzSimmons; the deacon, the Rev. Francis O'Brien; the subdeacon, the Rev. Christian Rempe; the chanters incope, the Rev. A. Wolfgarten and the Rev. E. Hoban.

Vast Problems Equal the Old.

Archbishop McEvay reviewed the history of the early French and Spanish missionaries who had carried the faith through the wilderness and girdled unknown savage seas with their missions, and then declared that tasks as great, as difficult, and as certain of eternal reward awaited the soldiers of the church today.

"The harvest is so vast, so vast," he said, "and the laborers so few. There are the careless Catholics everywhere who need more personal attention, more missionary work to stir them to a keener realization of their duties to God.

"There are the abandoned Catholics scattered in small towns and on farms and ranches and plantations, in the frozen forests of the north and the swamps by southern seas, who yearn for the sacraments and the ministrations of the church and must have them if they are to raise future generations in the faith.

"There are the negroes and the Indians to whom the church owes the duty of teaching them her eternal truths. There are the great tides of immigrants, millions of them, to whom the church is the only unchanged, unchanging familiar thing in a strange land, but who are too poor to help themselves and are assailed by the soul destroying advocates of materialism and socialism."

STATELY PROCESSION OF PRELATES OUTWARD INDICATION OF CATHOLIC CHURCH EXTENSION MOVEMENT'S GROWTH.

BY THE REV. THOMAS VINCENT SHANNON,
Assistant Pastor St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church.

WHAT was virtually the first session of the Catholic missionary congress was held yesterday at the Cathedral of the Holy Name. This magnificent edifice has often been the scene of many notable functions. Within its sanctuary priests have been ordained, bishops have been consecrated, the archiepiscopal pallium has been conferred. But never in its history has it been graced with such distinction as by the ceremonial of yesterday.

In keeping with the dignity of the occasion his excellency, Diomede Falconio, apostolic delegate to the United States, officiated at the solemn pontifical mass. He was there as the direct emissary of his holiness, Pope Pius X., who thus lent to the function sanction that was in accord with the letter of commendation that he so graciously sent Archbishop Quigley on the latter's visit to Rome. The delegate came specially charged to make clear that the congress was to be the recipient of papal encouragement, and in token of this was given power to bestow on the meeting the apostolic benediction.

Surrounding the delegates in the services of the mass were the superiors of the various missionary societies of America, significant, it would seem, that hereafter there would be a more compact unity of endeavor among all engaged in this great work. Ranged within the chancel were the archbishops and bishops, who had come from far and near not merely to participate in the ceremonies of the day, but rather by their wisdom and experience to aid in the guidance of the congress. With few exceptions they were men whose hair had grown gray out of the accumulated experiences of long and active lives. Many of them had themselves been pioneer missionaries in their various dioceses. Some of them had labored among the negro and the Indian, and few indeed who did not know the vicissitudes incident to missionary life.

All of these men were brought together by the common impulse that has been so forcibly stirred up during the last two years by the Catholic Church Extension society. They had come to weigh and discuss insistent problems. To the onlooker it would seem such an assembly could resolve wise ways and means from its councils. Some of these had come from distant parts, an abbot from Florida, a bishop from Arkansas, an archbishop from Oregon, a prefect apostolic from Alaska. Canada has sent a distinguished archbishop, and Porto Rico returned the American, Bishop Jones. It was truly a splendid and inspiring sight. It would be difficult to gather in America a more distinguished assemblage.

The picture presented by the line of march as each dignitary passed in the insignia of his office was a memorable one. There was a conviction that in choosing such men as leaders the church had not far erred. Some among the prelates had more than mere claims of curiosity on the watching multitude. It would be a shame to pass by the patrician face of that noble looking man who overtopped his fellow bishops and not be told that he was the bishop of Charleston, the Rt. Rev. Harry Pinckney Northrup and a lineal descendant of that Charles Cotesworth Pinckney of South Carolina whose name is affixed to the declaration of independence.

More than passing interest attaches to the tall, spare figure of the bishop of Savannah, the Rt. Rev. Benjamin J. Kelley, whose brother lieutened the noble edifice that was the scene of today's activities.

Here were men who had come to their eminence from every station in life. Equality of opportunity holds complete sway in the great democracy of the Catholic church. The only throne in the world whose occupant is elected by the suffrages of an institution that may have been the model for our own electoral college is filled by the son of a poor Italian peasant.

The amalgamation of races in America, if not entirely solved, is certainly made easier of attainment through the unity of faith. Race mingles with race, having a great and controlling interest in common. The composite nature of the episcopate also was yesterday called to mind in the first congregation of St. Peter. But no matter whether they were Irish, German, Polish, French, Belgian, Dutch, Bohemian, Croat, or Slavic in blood, it was after all the welfare of America and its 15,000,000 of Catholics that had brought them together.

By all odds the most remarkable, and the one demanding most attention, was the Ruthenian-Greek, Bishop Stephen Soter Ortynski. Entitled to the use of a rite entirely unlike the Roman, still he is in closest communion with the Roman see. Of imposing presence and singularly fine appearing, dressed in the ornate robes of his office he made a notable addition to the picturesqueness of the procession. It is news to many to know that his countrymen have two churches in Chicago, in one of which he officiated last evening.

Among the clergy, who occupied a large portion of the nave of the cathedral, were men of whom the world has heard—the learned Father Doyle of the Paulists, a distinctively American order, and present, superior of the mission house of the Catholic university, with a record of 6,257 converts to the Catholic faith and $2,500 under instruction; Mgr. Freri, director for America of the Society of the Propagation of the Faith, an organization founded in Lyons purposely to aid the church in America; Father McGinnis, founder of the International Truth society, which during its existence of nine years has dispelled mountains of ignorance and prejudice.

An almost ecumenical character was given to the vast concourse by the attendance of two orientals, the Rev. Father Rommel, a Syro-Malchite, and a member of the order of St. Basil, and the Rev. Father Lucueiu, a Roumantan, both laboring in the archdiocese of Chicago.

To Archbishop Quigley the gathering, so representative of the church in America, was the supreme proof of the project which was entirely of his originating. The words of praise that Pope Pius had uttered, "This work, which you have so earnestly undertaken, is one than which there is none more worthy of men eager to promote the divine glory," were indeed comforting, but their first fruition surpassed every expectation.

Still, who should gainsay the utterance of the pontiff, when he added, "We also see that the work is most opportune in a country where, owing to the multitude of immigrants of various nationalities, a great and extending field lies open for the upbuilding of the kingdom of God." And no matter what misgivings may have been had over a project so novel there could hardly be any doubt as to the triumph of the movement. It was absolutely assured today.

* * *

It was a happy choice to have the great archbishop of New Orleans preach the sermon. Of all his brother bishops his had been the most varied career as a missionary priest and bishop. The work done by him in Porto Rico of a reconstructive and missionary character earned for him the right to voice the aspirations, hopes, and ideals of the first American missionary congress. With rare fervor and impassioned speech he laid before the clergy and laity the claims of the church universal on the church in America.

The accomplishments of a century that some dioceses have been recently celebrating, great achievements of a hundred years, the hard tasks of brick and mortar, praiseworthy as they were, are to be only suggestive of the glorious deeds of the future centuries. His grace took especial pains to point out the worthy history of the Catholic episcopacy in America. The work it had done in a spiritual way could bear honorable comparison with the material achievements that a century had recorded.

He was especially eloquent when he sketched the marvelous possibilities of the church under the greatest empire that had ever been erected by a body of free men. The work of the congress was in the nature of a clarion call to all alike, priest, bishop, or laic, to awaken to the new demands, to utilise the weapons that are already shaped so that the record of the years to come may be of so heroic a mold, the web and woof out of which would be woven a texture that the Catholic world might look upon with pride.

Finally he paid a graceful tribute of respect to Archbishop Quigley for the work he had begun and had so far perfected, charging all to hold up his hands so that he might send laborers into the harvest fields. No one might be indifferent. He who was not for the work was against it.

* * *

While the solemn services of the mass were in progress the nature of the letter which was sent by Pope Pius X. was made known. It was brought by the apostolic delegate from Washington, and its contents are indicated by the following letter from the legate to Dr. Kelley:

"Nov. 15, 1908.—To the Very Rev. Francis Kelley, the First Missionary Congress of America, and the Catholic Church Extension Society:

"By a letter dated Sept. 5, 1908, No. 21,965, his eminence, Cardinal Merry del Val, informed me that his holiness, Pope Pius X., has commissioned me to present in his name to the first American missionary congress and to the Catholic Church Extension society his congratulations, and at the same time to impart his apostolic benediction to the congress, to the Catholic Church Extension society, and to all the friends and benefactors of this great movement.

"This duty laid upon me by the sovereign pontiff is indeed an agreeable one. Since that marvelous day upon which Christ Jesus our Lord bade his disciples go forth unto the uttermost bounds of the earth to carry the message of salvation and to announce the kingdom of God, it has been the singular prerogative of our holy church to bless and send her children on the self-same errand.

"In every age our holy church has armed her soldiers, not indeed with might and power but with the sign of the cross and the gift of faith. To no chosen people has she sent her missionaries, but to every race under heaven. She sent them to Rome and Greece in the days of old, when the pride of life was intellect; she sent them into distant Asia, where life was the measure of ease and comfort; she sent them into the northern wilds and fastnesses, where life was blood and war. Those heroes of God conquered. Of the Roman they made the saint and strengthened the martyr, of the slothful Asiatic they made the very 'athlete of God,' of your own northern forefathers they made the messengers of grace, who stopped not at the course of rivers nor halted at the mountain ranges, but hastened on to carry the good tidings of great joy.

"And so, in this fair land of America, where the pioneer priests and missionaries made the savage the 'lily of the Mohawks,' the same divine energy has been felt, and we find the glorious sequel in the first American missionary congress, assembled here in Chicago today under the auspices of the Catholic Church Extension society. Like the pentecostal fire, it has come as a mighty wind, and, thanks to our God, it has found a noble and ready response. Clergy and laity, here united in true fraternal and Christian spirit, are all filled with the same ambition, to spread our holy church, to enlarge the bounds of the kingdom, and to bring the tidings of joy to our scattered brethren as well as to the stranger without the gate.

"We feel that God has indeed blessed the Catholic Church Extension society for this great undertaking, and we pray that the spirit of love and faith may be carried by the members of the society throughout the length and breadth of the land so that America, in the youthful life and vigor may take up the battle of the cross and win untold thousands of souls in Christ Jesus.

"Our holy father, Pope Pius X., has purposed to himself to restore all things in Christ, and the Catholic Church Extension society is nobly assisting him in his chosen work. He therefore looks upon the first American missionary congress with paternal love. For this reason, as well as to give you a pledge of his high consideration, he has commissioned me to convey to this missionary congress and to the church extension society his congratulations, and at the same time he has authorised me, as his personal representative, to impart to you his apostolic benediction.

"May the spirit which energized Peter, the first vicar of Christ, and which still abides with his successor, Pius, remain with you forever. Yours in Xto.,

D. FALCONIO,
"Archbishop of Larissa, apostolic delegate."

* * *

Altogether the events of yesterday could have but one meaning. With the reiteration of the absolute confidence of the holy father, the countenance given by the presence of his delegate, the great array of the hierarchy, the vast number of priests, the huge outpouring of the laity, church extension is to be reckoned with as one of the greatest impelling forces that are to play a conspicuous part in the history of the Catholic church.

LUTHERAN ATTACK HITS ROOSEVELT.

Evangelical Synod Calls President to Account for Not Opposing Catholics.

DISCUSS CHURCH HISTORY

Ministers' Committee Tells Executive They Should Keep Out of Politics.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A committee of clergymen of the synodical conference of the Evangelical Lutheran church of American forwarded to President Roosevelt on Saturday an open letter in which it takes a sharp slap at him for writing to a correspondent in Dayton, O., last week a letter in which he denounced as "unwarranted bigotry" any refusal to vote for a candidate for high office because of his membership in the Roman Catholic church.

The committee wrote to President Roosevelt that he ought to know that for centuries the Catholic church had done all it could to prevent the separation of church and state, and intimated that in America there were many of that faith who sought to carry their church into politics.

"Convinced of your deep sincerity," the letter opens, "and in full agreement with you as to the fundamental principle of separation of church and state, as enunciated in your letter to J. C. Martin, the members and pastors of our church and other churches as well have been amazed to see the indiscriminate self-contradictory application you make of that principle in itself, and this stricture is made by you on those who might refuse to vote for a Roman Catholic for the highest office in the gift of the people.

Recalls History of Church.

"Of course, it is subversive of the basic principle of the real separation of church and state to permit the religious belief or the nonbelief of any candidate for public office to determine the casting of one's vote for or against such a candidate except when that religious belief or unbelief antagonizes this principle and all those rights and liberties that are included therein and safeguarded thereby. We agree with you, therefore, that these citizens are to be severely criticised who vote against a man merely because he is a Unitarian, Jew, Methodist, or of any other religion. But are you not aware of the fact that the Roman Catholic church has again and again for centuries back denounced as wholly wrong and as things to be tolerated only so long as they cannot be changed, the complete separation of church and state, full religious liberty, freedom of conscience, of speech, and of the press, and that, moreover, it proclaims its teachings and principles to be unchangeable?

"Are we not compelled to maintain that a loyal Roman Catholic who fully understands the allegiance required of him by the pope can never sincerely subscribe to the federal constitution, or, if he does, never can be expected to abide by it, enforce and defend it? Papacy and vaticanism cannot be separated from the Roman Catholic religion."

Asks if All Are Bigots.

The letter next asks the president if all the Lutherans and other denominations in the country are to be branded as bigots and denounced as disloyal citizens because they believe that the chance should not be given to a Catholic to choose between his duty to his church and his duty to his country when holding high office.

The letter closes with a demand that the president show the error of its writers, if they are in error, or that he admit that the contention in the communication is correct.

PRELATES AT POPE'S JUBILEE.

Rome Is Filled with Distinguished Churchmen to Pay Honor to Pontiff at Anniversary.

ROME, Nov. 15.—The city is overflowing with ecclesiastics and pilgrims from throughout the world, who have arrived to witness the ceremony of the papal mass at St. Peter's tomorrow to celebrate the priesthood jubilee of the pontiff. Police and troops have been stationed all around St. Peter's and the vatican to guarantee the pope and the high officials of the church from any attempt that might be made against them.

DECLARES WARS HAVE CEASED

Dr. Hillis Contends That Science Has Brought Universal Peace.

SERMON FULL OF OPTIMISM.

Occultism Attacked by Prof. G. A. Coe of Northwestern University.

"Universal brotherhood of man is at hand," declared the Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn yesterday to Central church congregation in Auditorium theater.

At the time the Brooklyn clergyman was addressing the Chicago congregation the Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus, pastor of Central church, was preaching to Dr. Hillis' congregation in Brooklyn.

When the clergyman launched into the uplift of international politics one round of applause after another rang through the theater.

"When I speak of politics," he said, "I speak of the science of government, that part of ethics which has to do with the regulation and government of a nation or state, the preservation of its safety, peace, and prosperity, the defense of its existence and rights against foreign control or conquest, the augmentation of its strength and resources, the preservation and improvement of its morals.

"Without the same sense of politics and law that Webster entertained no man today should go to Washington.

Thinks Universal Peace Here.

"With our international politics the kingdom of God has come. The passing of war is here. Universal peace is upon us.

"With the coming of the Marconigram every navy of the world is in the center of the stage. The message that flies through air and heralds around the world the slightest movement of any ship of war has obliterated the darkness.

"There is no need of navies. There is no need that more navies should be built. With the next Hague congress let us witness the dissolution of the world's armies. Let that message of peace be permanent and continue ad infinitum.

"If any of you young men before me have a genius for making money use it to make a charity for Christ's poor. It is the greatest use to which you could put your genius."

Big Jam at Orchestra Hall.

The largest crowd in the history of the Sunday Evening club gathered at night in Orchestra hall to hear Dr. Hillis speak on "The America of Today and Tomorrow." All seats were taken at 7:30 o'clock. The police turned thousands of people away, and the ushers with linked arms stood half way up the stair holding the crowd back.

"The future of the country rests upon the American family, the public school, the free church, the American Sunday, and our political institutions," said Dr. Hillis. "We need immigrants. The public school is the machine which digests them and turns them into good Americans.

"There is no finer ambition for a young man than to found a little home, have a little house, and one woman in it who loves him, a little garden, a few vines, a few friends, a few songs, and the great God."

Makes Attack on Mysticism.

Prof. George A. Coe of Northwestern university, who caused a sensation recently by a published article on the psychology of religious revivals, spoke to the Society of Ethical Culture in Handel hall on "The Appeal to the Subconscious."

In his address he spoke of "new thought," "Christian Science," "religious therapeutics," and "The Emmanuel movement" as appeals to the subconscious. Furthermore he said:

"The appeal to the subconscious is having its day, but it is doomed to failure. We shall never decipher the meaning of life and of this our world by going down into the subcellar of the mind and peering into the shadows, but only by ascending to the upper stories of individual consciousness and gazing toward the empyrean."

Jenkin Lloyd Jones in All Souls' church advocated a return to the curfew law.

A NEW
SALT AND PEPPER SHAKER
THE MEAKER
which eliminates the difficulties experienced in the use of salt and pepper at the table—

as shown here in actual size.

It delivers only from the bottom. One motion discharges a uniform quantity, and as the shaker directs the outflow it is not scattered and you never get more than you want. When set down all openings are closed, hence damp air or dirt cannot get to contents. As a result, salt and pepper retains its strength and quality, and is freely dismissed from the shaker, for it cannot become clogged.

The metal parts are of aluminum and silver, the tops of fine cut glass. The Meaker is an excellent improvement in Shakers and is moderately priced,

LABOR DEMANDS QUIZ AT DUNNING

Federation to Seek Immediate Inquiry Into Death of Gustave Peiper.

ADDRESSED BY COOLEY.

Superintendent Starts Discussion with Talk on Continuation Schools.

Investigation of the charges of brutality and negligence on the part of attendants and guards employed in the Dunning asylum was demanded in a resolution adopted yesterday by the Chicago Federation of Labor. The resolution, which was presented by delegates of the Printing Pressmen's union, demanded specifically that the county board undertake an inquiry into the death of Gustave Peiper, a member of the pressmen's union, who died at the asylum on Nov. 4, under circumstances pointing to violence.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that Peiper died of pneumonia, though four days before he died the patient was discovered to be suffering from the effects of bruises on his head, body, and limbs.

The necessity of a thorough investigation of conditions at Dunning was considered so urgent that the federation decided to take immediate action. The question was referred to the executive board with instructions to take the matter up today with the county board.

Cooley Starts Discussion.

The principal discussion of the meeting was brought out by an address by Superintendent of Schools Edwin G. Cooley on "Continuation Schools and Their Relation to Organized Labor." Supt. Cooley outlined the objects of the new school system and said he stood ready to accept suggestions from organized labor for the improvement of the schools and the curriculums.

In the discussion it was indicated that the delegates favored Supt. Cooley's plan, provided the continuation schools were conducted so as not to conflict with the interests of organized labor. Though the speaker was careful in distinguishing between trade schools and continuation schools, many delegates drifted into a discussion of trade schools, which, some of the delegates said, are "schools for strike breakers." Following the discussion the entire question was reported to the committee on schools for investigation.

For the first time in nearly a year, Miss Margaret Haley attended the federation meeting and took an active part in the discussion. John J. Sonsteby and Louis F. Post, members of the school board, also were present.

Superintendent Explains Views.

"We believe the schools have been conducted in the interest of those few who go into the professions or the colleges," said Supt. Cooley. "The schools have been too literary and academic. It appears that the age of 15 is the limit of the educational opportunities of a vast majority of children. We believe the schools should not be closed to them until they are at least 18 years old.

"The continuation schools are designed for those who have to leave school at the age of 14 and go to work. There are at present 18,000 pupils in the 'continuation' schools. Of these more than 9,000 are immigrants. Formerly the evening schools were conducted for the benefit of the immigrant who wanted to learn English. We have noted a large falling off in immigrant enrollment and an increased enrollment of pupils who have left school at an early age.

"Continuation schools are not trade schools and should never be such. These schools run about four months. I believe they should run twelve months each year and I shall bring whatever influence I have toward obtaining a longer term.

Favored by Employers.

"Many employers of labor favor these schools and are willing to give certain time each day to their employes to go to school. I believe the best results can be obtained through day schools."

"What is the cause of the large falling off in immigrant enrollment?" Barney Berlyn asked.

"Well, we think it is on account of the recent heavy exodus of immigrants to Italy, Hungary, and other European countries," said Supt. Cooley. "The exodus probably was caused by the industrial depression."

"Isn't it a fact that the employers are interested in these schools chiefly because they want to produce cheap mechanics and strike breakers?" asked Robert Nelson of the Iron molders' union.

"There is ground for suspicion that some employers are actuated by selfish motives," Mr. Conley answered. "But I have pointed out that we do not want to make tradesmen out of the boys attending these schools."

Backed by Socialist.

"I am in sympathy with Supt. Cooley's idea on this question," said Delegate Berlyn, socialist leader in the federation. "The underlying principle is correct. It is true there are conflicting interests between employers and workers, but out of the clash will come a higher race of humanity."

To a question whether he sympathized with the efforts of the Teachers' federation in going after tax dodgers, Supt. Cooley said:

"I am in favor of any movement in that regard that is conducted by an impartial body of citizens, but I deprecate such a move on the part of public servants personally interested in the outcome."

"I am glad to hear that the Employers' association and kindred organizations are interested in continuation schools," said Miss Haley. "We have no apologies to make for going after tax dodgers."

After Secretary Nockels had read the names of a number of Chicago business men and employers interested in the success of the new schools, the federation instructed the executive committee to investigate their "tax record" with a view to ascertaining if they are "tax dodgers."

EXPLAINS ABOUT BREAD LABEL.

Otto E. Fisher, International Secretary, Presides at Meeting of the Jewish Bakers' Union.

The meaning of the union label on bread was explained to residents of the Ghetto district of the west side yesterday by Otto E. Fisher, international secretary of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers of America, who presided at the meeting of local 237 of the Jewish Bakers' union. The meeting was the result of the refusal of certain bakers on the west side to place the union label on bread. The bakery workers were on the verge of striking Saturday night, when the bakers capitulated.

Official inquiry into the whereabouts of Mrs. D. E. Wilcox's muff, which she missed Saturday night at Vogelsang's restaurant, will be instituted today at the Harrison street branch of the Municipal court. Clyde W. Morse, 1751 Kenmore avenue, whose arrest was caused on a charge of stealing it, was released yesterday morning on bonds of $500 and will appear today in court to face his accuser. "I don't know where the muff is," Mr. Morse said, laughing. "If I did I would be glad to see it restored to Mrs. Wilcox."

BOY'S NECK BROKEN BY AUTO

John Armstrong, 9 Years Old, Killed While Playing in Street.

RUNS IN FRONT OF MACHINE.

M. F. Wilson and Three Women in the Car Which Ends Lad's Life.

While playing football with several other boys yesterday afternoon in front of 623 Garfield boulevard, John Armstrong, 9 years old, was run over and killed by an automobile belonging to M. F. Wilson, 824 Fleurnoy street.

In the automobile with Wilson at the time were Mrs. D. F. Lusher and a Mrs. Arey, living at 3000 Park avenue, and Miss Rasmussen, who lives at 824 Flournoy street. They were going east in the boulevard when, near Normal avenue, a number of small boys playing football ran into the street, a few feet in front of the automobile.

Unable to Stop in Time.

Wilson said he was traveling well within the speed limit and tried to stop the car, but was unable to do so before it struck the boy. When the body was removed from under the machine it was found the boy's neck had been broken.

The boy's parents, who live at 5137 Lowe avenue, were notified of his death and they immediately went to Kenny's undertaking rooms, 5438 Halsted street, to which the body had been removed. Mr. Armstrong is an inspector for the City Railway company.

After the police arrived and removed the body Wilson drove with his guests to the Englewood station, where he told Lieut. Walsh how the accident occurred. He was not arrested.

Will Arrest Owners of Autos.

City Collector Magerstadt today will send to the commanders at all police precincts lists giving the name, addresses, and license numbers of automobile owners in their districts who have not paid the wheel tax.

With the lists will be instructions to the police to arrest the owners of the machines when they appear on the streets without the required license tag. Policemen will also be stationed at various garages.

"We expect there will be hundreds arrested on Tuesday or as fast as the machines appear upon the public streets or alleys without the necessary tag," said Mr. Magerstadt.

AUTO FALLS OVER BLUFF; 5 HURT.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A touring car fell over a high bluff this evening, causing probably fatal injuries to Miss Mary Nicholls and the chauffeur, Charles Chambers. Walter and Will Nicholls and Miss Mona Nicholls were severely injured.

Walter Nicholls is a member of the Chicago board of trade, but votes in Spokane. His brother is a mining and securities broker well known in New York, Butte, and Spokane, his residence being here.

The party in the automobile was on the way to church.

Six Hurt; Two Babies Escape.

San José, Cal., Nov. 15.—Six persons were injured, two of them dangerously, today when A. Busey, an Oakland furniture dealer, turned his automobile over an eighteen foot embankment to escape crashing into a passenger train. The 14 months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Busey and the 14 months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Horton escaped injury.

FLOOR BURIES TWO FIREMEN

Capt. Ambrose and Pipeman Weir Rescued by Their Comrades.

BLAZE IN SOUTH CHICAGO.

Hastings Express and Valvoline Oil Companies Damaged $40,000.

In fighting a fire at the South Chicago branch of the Hastings Express company, Ninety-fifth street and Commercial avenue, yesterday afternoon, two firemen narrowly escaped death.

The blaze was first discovered on a freight platform of the express company, and before the arrival of the engines it spread to the sheds of the company, containing twenty-two horses and twelve wagons, and to the roof of the two story building of the Valvoline Oil company, 475 Ninety-fifth street.

The plant of the oil company contains 200 barrels of oil and the firemen centered their efforts on the building in an attempt to prevent the spread of the flames to the oil.

Floor Falls on Firemen.

Capt. Robert Ambrose of Engine company 87 and Pipeman Isaac Weir of Engine company 46 were working beneath the wagon shed of the express company, when the floor of the shed, weakened by the fire, suddenly collapsed, burying the firemen. They were rescued by their comrades. Beyond a few scratches they were not hurt.

A shifting of the wind sent a shower of sparks across the Rock Island railroad tracks and the Oxford elevator was threatened for a time. A spark caught on the air shaft of the elevator and blazed brightly for a few minutes, but a serious fire was averted by the prompt work of the engine companies.

Total Loss Is $40,000.

Two freight cars belonging to the express company, containing merchandise valued at $10,000, were destroyed by the flames.

The barn, wagon shed, station platform, and seven wagons of the express company were destroyed, an estimated damage of $20,000. The Valvoline Oil company's loss is estimated at $10,000.

Jeremiah Cohen, an employe of the express company, with the assistance of citizens, rescued the twenty-two horses of the company.

The neighborhood is sparsely settled, but several families living near the fire removed their household effects to the streets, fearing the destruction of their dwellings.

JEWS ARE URGED TO WED GENTILES

Dr. Hirsch Tells Sinai Congregation Benefits from Intermarriage Policy.

PURITY OF RACE DENIED.

Says Opposition to Proposal Means Segregation and Eventual Decline.

Intermarriage into other races in violation of accepted scriptural injunctions and years of custom was boldly advocated as a solution of the Jewish problem by Dr. Emil G. Hirsch in a sermon before the Sinai congregation yesterday morning. The sermon was the first of a series dealing with the intermarriage of Jews with non-Jews and the solution of the Jewish problem.

As the only alternative to intermarriage Dr. Hirsch offered emigration and segregation, and the ultimate decline of the Jewish people in the world's civilization and progress. In declaring in favor of intermarriage the noted Hebrew educator attacked the "racial purity" argument of orthodox Jewish leaders who oppose intermarriage, declaring that no such thing as a distinctive Jewish race exists and that vaunted racial purity and unmixed blood is a myth.

"Within recent days, the proposition of intermarriage of Jews and non-Jews has been more and more advanced and this fact urges upon us who are free from prejudice careful study and consideration," Dr. Hirsch declared. "Ever since the Jewish question obtruded itself upon Jews and Gentiles alike, our great leaders have offered two solutions. Either the Jew must intermarry into the white races among whom he lives or he must emigrate from the land where the fortuities of life have placed him. We who believe intermarriage is the only rational solution of the problem cannot appeal to the Bible for precedent, as our orthodox opponents do, or point to the injunction of Abraham against intermarriage. But for us this portion of the scripture is only of historic interest as mirroring the ideas and aspirations of the time and the people which gave it birth.

Brands Racial Purity a Myth.

"The objections to intermarriage are based upon three grounds, racial, national, and religious. We are urged to believe that for 4,000 years the Jewish race has maintained its racial purity. This is an assumption scarcely verified in the light of scientific and historical evidence. The appeal to maintain racial purity is an appeal to a myth, for which there is no warrant in actual fact; a myth not of our own making but too much of our own cherishing.

"We are not a race, and when we try to differentiate between the Semite and the Indo-European races we fall ultimately. What we called the Hebrew race in no way presents such differentiation as to mark it apart from other white races. The modern Jew is not a Semite and there is no such thing as a Hebrew race, according to the indices of anthropology. If ever we were of Semitic origin we lost it through intermarriage.

"The theory that we have kept aloof from the world and pure in blood is untenable. We have intermarried, the bible shows it, and the injunction of Abraham proves that intermarriage was the rule and not the exception. Moses himself married a woman, who, to use an American phrase, 'was not colored, but was born that way.' He indulged in the peculiar matrimonial extravagance of not marrying a woman of white stock, and if he did this, so did his followers, and intermarriage was the rule. I am able to furnish incontrovertible proofs that up to the third Christian century the Jews intermarried, and from the third to the nineteenth century intermarriage was suspended, not from the aversion or prejudice of our people, but because of the prejudice, aversion, and hatred fostered by Christian monarchs and the rule of the monks.

Says Intermarriage Is Frequent.

"In Denmark, in Sweden, and in the smaller American cities the Jewish people have intermarried. Only among the poorest of the Ghetto and the most wealthy has intermarriage not been accepted. The vaunted purity of race and blood is buncombe. We always have intermarried and in the centuries when intermarriage was suspended or prohibited, something else which had the same effect upon the offspring of Jewish women took place. Don't misunderstand me in this. During the 'dark ages' the Jews were persecuted and socially ostracized, but immorality upon the part of the persecutors was common, helpless Jewish women were the innocent victims, and the enforced bearing of non-Jewish children was their way of wearing the crown of martyrdom for a higher civilization.

"We also are urged to maintain the purity of our religion. But in ancient Israel, the majority of our people were indifferent or antagonistic to the religious tenets of Judaism. If ever there was a religion less racial it is ours. Our temples are empty and there is no religious question which interests us. We are so dead sure of ourselves in religious matters that we come to the temple to criticise, not to be inspired."

KILLS HIMSELF IN GRIEF OVER WIFE'S RECENT DEATH.

Daniel Pacillo, Unemployed Laborer, Commits Suicide, Leaving His Three Young Children Destitute.

Despondent over the recent death of his wife, Daniel Pacillo committed suicide in his flat at 206 Plymouth court yesterday by shooting himself. He left three children, ranging in ages from 5 to 17 years.

Pacillo was 40 years old and was a laborer. He had been out of work for several weeks and his savings were exhausted. Neighbors and strangers provided the destitute children with food and clothing.

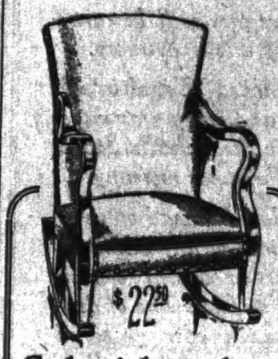

A coroner's jury decided that Nova I. Supinger, the young medical student who was found dead in a gas filled room Saturday night, committed suicide while mentally deranged. There was no evidence to bear out the theory that Supinger was despondent over a love affair. Jesse Supinger, the young man's father, took the body to Hillsboro, Ill., for burial.

James Rogers, 82 years old, tried to commit suicide, but the bullet he fired inflicted only a scalp wound. He was taken to the Alexian Brothers' hospital. He is in a serious condition, principally because of his age. For several days he had been staying at the Revere house. He said he had been in ill health for a long time and had neither relatives nor friends.

SUICIDE OF HAAS REMOVES WITNESS

Heney Says He's Sorry His Assailant Committed Suicide Before Revealing Motive.

INJURED MAN IMPROVES.

San Francisco Prosecutor Sits Up and Chats While Surgeons Work on His Wound.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 15.—The condition of Francis J. Heney is still most satisfactory and the attending surgeons report that he is making excellent progress on the road to recovery. He passed a comfortable night, sleeping most of the time, and rested easily today.

Although the bullet has been located, embedded in the left of the jaw about one inch in front of the ear, the surgeons have decided not to extract it until Mr. Heney gains more strength. The swelling in the throat is less than at any time since the patient was taken to the hospital, and he is breathing normally.

Mrs. Heney spent an hour today in the examination room of the hospital while the surgeons were removing grains of powder from her husband's face and head. While this was going on the wounded man sat upon the table and made jocular remarks.

Sorry Haas Shot Himself.

When told of the massmeeting held last night Mr. Heney showed great interest, and on being informed that his assailant had taken his own life at the county jail, he said:

"It is too bad he did it before giving his reason for shooting me."

Another X-ray photograph was taken in order to get a different view from those taken yesterday.

The suicide of Morris Haas, who tried to assassinate the prosecutor, was the subject of much discussion today and the police authorities were engaged in trying to ascertain how he was able to have concealed the pistol with which he took his life after he had been thoroughly searched two or three times.

Churchmen Take Up Situation.

The clergy branch of the League of Justice held two massmeetings today, one at Calvary Presbyterian church, the other at Grace Methodist Episcopal church. The incidents of the last two days and the course of the graft prosecutions were discussed by a number of speakers, clerical and lay. At the churches in the cities surrounding San Francisco bay references to the events of the week and their lessons were made into sermons.

The attempt to kill Mr. Heney has had the effect of rekindling civic pride and overcoming indifference and criticism of the prosecution of the bribery graft cases, and has evoked a determination to support the district attorney in the prosecution to a conclusion of all charged with debauching the public service.

It is the intention to proceed tomorrow with the interrupted trial of Abraham Ruef, extra precautions having been taken to prevent a recurrence of violence or disorder. Mr. Heney's place will be taken by Attorneys Matt I. Sullivan and Hiram W. Johnson.

TOM JOHNSON SELLS A BANK.

Cleveland Mayor Finds He Has Too Much Else to Do to Handle Depositors' Trust Company.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A new angle in the long street railway war in Cleveland came tonight when it was announced that one of Mayor Johnson's pet schemes was about to fade away. The Depositors' Savings and Trust company, of which the mayor is president, will be taken over by the First National and Cleveland Trust jointly.

When the street car war assumed a new aspect following the defeat of Mayor Johnson in his fight at the polls for his holding the company franchise, it naturally placed the mayor in a position where he found he had too many irons in the fire. Therefore he asked that the bank be taken out of his hands.

Evangelist Holds That Higher Education Is Filling Prisons.

FADS OF STUDENTS SCORED.

Reformed Drunkard Talks to Audience at Northwestern University.

Higher education was given as a cause for the filling of prisons by E. C. Mercer, a reformed drunkard, now engaged in evangelistic work, who addressed the students at Northwestern university yesterday afternoon.

"During the last few years I have been working in the Water Street mission at New York," he said, "and I have learned that one-third of the men who came there ragged and dirty and begging for food were college bred. I have found them on the Bowery making up beds or waiting on table, and I have even met them in the street cleaning brigades. During February of last year more than 400 of them stood in the 'bread line' at our mission. Seventy-five per cent of the prisoners at Sing Sing prison are college bred men.

Blames "Wine, Women, and Song."

"'Wine, women, and song' in college life are responsible for this condition. The typical college student of today has a Turkish cigaret in his mouth, a four inch cap cocked on one side of his head, and his trousers rolled up to display fantastic hosiery. To be a member of the glee club or football team and to attend all the parties are his chief ambitions. He takes his first drink to be a good fellow and then finds it impossible to stop. What a college graduate needs more than his diploma is a little practical religion.

"I could name man after man who because of the desire for strong drink cultivated while at college has pursued a downward course. There is R. H. Hadley of Princeton, who went through $40,000 in a year and then left the university to join the crowd that haunts the Bowery; Bill De Witt of Yale, who spent $8,000 in a year; and 'Joe' Rafferty of Yale, who was forced to give up his position as head of the printing department of the Prudential Life Insurance company with a salary of $50 a day to become a beggar and finally to attempt suicide.

"These are only a few of the college men who have come to our missions and are now taking an active part in the work.

Hypocrites Denounced.

"If you wish to preserve a dead man, put him in alcohol; if you want to kill a live man, put alcohol in him. There are too many so-called Christians who pray on their knees on Sunday and prey on their neighbors during the week."

Mr. Mercer said he was graduated from the University of Virginia into the Bowery of New York, where he was lately converted in "Jerry" Macauley's famous Water Street mission. He now is making a tour of the colleges and is trying to institute a reform in the college life of today.

Boston Police Are Puzzled by Mystery Surrounding the Death of Mrs. Julia Harmon.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. Julia Harmon, widow of "Chick" Stahl, the former baseball star, was found dead in a doorway in South Boston early this morning. There are no marks on the body except a slight discoloration on the throat to indicate the cause of death. Mrs. Harmon wore a large purple hat and a fur coat which is estimated to be worth at least $300. The inhabitants of the house could tell nothing of how she came to be there.

POSTOFFICE LOOT REACHES $18,000.

Thieves Successful at South Bend While Night Force Is Working.

ELECTRICITY IS UTILIZED

Robbers Tap Wire to Secure Power with Which to Drill the Safe.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The biggest robbery in the history of South Bend was pulled off last night by robbers who plundered the South Bend postoffice of $18,658.50 and made such a successful getaway that the postoffice inspectors and the police are without a clew on which to conduct their investigation. The plunder was all in stamps, as follows:

Five hundred and fifty thousand one cent stamps, value $5,500; 600,000 two cent stamps, value $12,000.

Five hundred twenty-five cent books of one cent stamps, value $125.

One thousand twenty-five cent books of two cent stamps, value $250.

Five hundred forty-nine cent books, value $245.

Five hundred ninety-seven cent books, value $293.50.

Drill Vault with Electricity.

The robbery was discovered at 8:20 o'clock this morning by a clerk in the employ of the Household Outfitting company, one door north of the room temporarily occupied for postoffice purposes during the erection of the new $100,000 building.

A hole 14 by 14 inches had been electrically drilled through the 14 inch fireproof wall forming one side of the postoffice vault, through which one of the thieves had entered the vault and passed the plunder to his confederates.

Access to the Household Outfitting company storeroom was gained by ascending a stairway fifty feet south of the store to the third floor of the building. From the head of the stairway the robbers crossed over to the building north of the postoffice and descended to the first floor next to the postoffice.

Before beginning operations on the wall the thieves covered the floor and stairway with scores of blankets and quilts taken from the stock of the store, and also hung a thick quilt on the north wall of the vault under which the drilling was done. As the bricks were loosened they were pulled out of the drillers' way by means of a small tackle and pulley, which was left behind.

Loot Filled Eight Suit Cases.

As the booty would fill eight suitcases the authorities state that at least four men were employed in the robbery.

At no time during the night was the postoffice unguarded. Frank Rexatrew and Frank Zipperer, mailing clerks, were in the mailing and sorting room until relieved by the day force. Patrolman Cutting, a messenger, and mail wagon drivers also were in and out of the postoffice at all hours of the night.

The electric drill used by the thieves was worked by power taken from lighting wires less than 20 feet from the wall, the wires being detached from a desk lamp in the office of the household company.

GUNNESS TRAIN OF MURDERS NEXT IN THE LAMPHERE TRIAL.

Woman's Methods Incidental to the Prosecution's Purpose to Fasten Arson, Too, on the Defendant.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—With the resumption of the trial tomorrow of Ray Lamphere, charged with the murder of Mrs. Belle Gunness and three children, the prosecution will enter upon the work of connecting Lamphere with the burning of the Gunness house last April. It is expected that much of the evidence offered will operate toward explaining the methods of Mrs. Gunness in committing wholesale murders.

It has been suggested that the state has evidence that poison in the bodies of Gunness family members was introduced after death in connection with the use of preservatives or in some other way.

Lamphere was so nervous in jail today that the sheriff pronounced him near a collapse. He received several visitors and read the bible diligently. Heretofore he has played cards and seemed indifferent about his case. The sheriff hazarded a guess that Lamphere will confess.

The jury today attended church and took a walk in the country in charge of bailiffs.

KAISER LOOKS ON AS WAR CHIEF DIES

Huelsen-Haeseler Is Stricken While Laughing and Talking.

KIEL VISIT IS PUT OFF.

Von Buelow Conference to Allay German Wrath at Imperial "Interviews."

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Because of the tragic death of Gen. Count Huelsen-Haeseler, chief of the German military cabinet, last night, the emperor has telegraphed Chancellor von Buelow that the audience arranged to take place at Kiel tomorrow aboard the battleship Deutschland must be deferred. The emperor will return to Berlin on Tuesday, when the meeting between him and the imperial chancellor, which the country awaits with intense feeling, is expected to occur.

Count Huelsen-Haeseler was laughing and talking after dinner at Donaueschingen when he suddenly fell, stricken with apoplexy, in the emperor's presence, and died almost immediately. He had held the position of imperial adjutant for nineteen years and was the emperor's constant companion. He had the ability to tell most amusing stories in the Berlin dialect, and had an immense influence in the army, because all promotions passed through his hands. The higher commands depended much upon his judgment.

Emperor William was greatly shocked at the death of his aid, and canceled all engagements at Kiel, but after a requiem mass was said at Donaueschingen early this morning, at which the emperor laid a wreath upon the casket containing the body, he went to Baden Baden, where the empress is visiting her great aunt, the Grand Duchess Louise. His majesty will return to Donaueschingen tomorrow and from there will proceed to Berlin.

Feeling Against the Kaiser Grows.

Public irritation against the emperor, as indicated in the newspapers and in the general conversations wherever one goes, seems to increase with the delay in the emperor's receiving the chancellor. The expectation appears to be that the emperor, if he recognizes the feeling of the country, will make some sort of declaration which may tranquilize his subjects.

Since the growing feeling against Emperor William's personal initiative both in internal and external affairs was suddenly released by his now famous published "interview," there have been exhibitions of violence that have astonished even the advanced radicals. The "interview" merely has been the occasion for a passionate expression of the German people's desire that the sovereign's power shall be limited to close constitutional interpretations.

Court Organ Joins in Complaint.

"The people have become conscious," says Heinreich Rippler, editor of the Tag-Reise Rundschau, a conservative court organ, which is supposed to be the emperor's favorite paper, "that their welfare or the ill of the empire depends upon a single individual, who has done nothing this week to quiet the fears of the people or to become reconciled with them. His majesty seems to have little appreciation of how his personal hobbies and antipathies are regarded."

The powerful conservative interests look to Prince von Buelow to obtain guarantees that his majesty will faithfully observe the will of the minor German kingdoms and of parliament, and that in foreign affairs even the least important business shall be transacted alone through and by the consent of the chancellor.

LISBON, Nov. 15.—Dispatches received here from Macao, China, state that the Chinese have occupied the colony, which is Portuguese territory, and that the situation is most serious.

The natives refuse to obey the Portuguese authorities and the Chinese troops, which have infested the place, have seized the customs. Fighting is momentarily expected.

At a cabinet meeting today it was decided to dispatch to the scene of the trouble three cruisers and a gunboat.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—A morning paper states that Princess de Sagan, formerly Miss Anna Gould, actually entered suit for a separation from the prince. This was on the advice of her attorney, who considered that her separation would greatly increase her chances of success in her pending suit for the custody of her children. She withdrew her application, however, the paper says, at the cabled request of her family, who feared further scandal.

Girl Whose Ability to Cook Chicken Won for Her a Prospective Husband.

MISS ROSE SUEKOFF.

If you wish a recipe for procuring a husband you may obtain it from Miss Rose Suekoff, 329 Evanston avenue. If you do not need such a recipe, but wish to learn how to prepare chicken stew, she can tell you that also.

For by boiling a chicken for a bazaar at Temple Emanuel, Buckingham place and Evanston avenue, Miss Suekoff won for herself the offer of Julius Wilsinski's heart and hand. The engagement was announced one hour after Miss Suekoff had served him with the chicken, which he watched her cook. The formula she followed is this:

Cut up the chicken and put it in a kettle half filled with cold water.

Add two onions and a pinch of salt.

When it has boiled for about three-quarters of an hour add potatoes and a bunch of soup greens.

Test the chicken with a fork to discover when the chicken is tender.

About five minutes before taking it off add noodles.

To make the noodles, take two cups of flour and mix with three eggs, keeping the dough well moist. Put in a little salt. Roll thin and slice.

ATTACK ON AN AMBASSADOR

GIVEN THE ROLE OF A BOOR.

Warm Reception for Francis on Return from His Vacation.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VIENNA, Nov. 15.—Die Zeit, a leading newspaper in Austria, prints today a column and a half criticising the American ambassador, Charles S. Francis of Troy, N. Y., who is expected back from his vacation at home next Wednesday.

"Never in diplomatic experience," says the Zeit, "has a more unpopular man held the post of ambassador. He and his family, knowing neither French nor German, have complained of Viennese ignorance of English, and never have concealed their contempt for Vienna houses, shops, climate, and women.

Lack of Hospitality Alleged.

"When he should have returned hospitalities he sublet the embassy to the Japanese legation, sent the women to America, and occupied a back room on the fifth floor of a hotel, paying $1 a day."

Numerous social blunders committed during the winter are rehearsed by the newspaper, which refers to the ambassador's absence of six months and his plans for traveling the coming winter.

Says He'll Not Be Missed.

"Vienna society will not miss him," the Zeit says in conclusion, "if the American state department does not object to his way of representing his government."

This article, appearing just before Mr. Francis' return, has caused a profound sensation in diplomatic circles.

CUBAN LANDSLIDE FOR THE LIBERALS

Gomez Party Carries Every Province and Senate Will Be Unanimous.

BIG MARGIN IN HOUSE.

Letters Between Magoon and the President Elect, American Evacuation, and Loan.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Nov. 15.—Conclusive election returns from 1,300 out of 1,486 polling places show a Liberal victory in every province. The senate will be entirely Liberal, while the house possibly will be one-third Conservative.

The elections produced a surprisingly complete Liberal landslide. The total known vote is: Conservative, 116,329; Liberal, 162,823.

Havana province went Liberal by 25,000 and the city by 18,000. The Liberal majorities in the other provinces were approximately as follows: Oriente, 12,500; Santa Clara, 11,000; Camaguey, 1,200; Pinar del Rio, 7,500; Matanzas, 8,000.

Magoon Writes to Gomez.

On the good order everywhere Gov. Magoon has written to President Elect Gomez as follows:

"Please accept my sincere congratulations upon your selection by the people of Cuba for the high office of president of the republic. The honor which you have received is augmented, and your gratification undoubtedly increased by the fact that the election was completely fair and an untrammeled expression of the will of the electors recorded at the polls without interference or restraint and in due and orderly observance of the requirements of law. The confidence of your countrymen is a jewel of great value. It comes to you in the form of the highest trust that your country can give, and I repeat my congratulations."

Reply Made by Gomez.

Gomez said in reply: "The manner in which these elections have been held would, indeed, make me feel proud and would be for me a source of genuine pleasure, whoever might have been the victor, because it tells once more that Cubans are capable of self-government, and in a manner, perhaps, never before so unequivocal, marks the complete and spontaneous triumph of republican ideals, of democratic methods, of political freedom—in a word of principles without which no country can be what we wish it to be—a truly free country!

"I cannot refrain from expressing the profound and sincere gratitude which Cuba owes the great country of Washington and Roosevelt, which you have the honor to represent, a gratitude that will be forever deep rooted in my soul as a Cuban."

Now comes the arrangement of the program for the evacuation of the island by the Americans. This subject will be taken up by Gov. Magoon and Señor Gomez.

Another important matter which will be considered is the proposed loan of perhaps, say, $20,000,000.

Whitehall, Mich., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Michigan's war on illegal fishing may have resulted in the death of Deputy State Game Warden Julius Salmonson, his brother, Martin Salmonson, and Deputy Sheriff J. C. Hazletine.

The men have been missing since midnight last night, when they went out in search of nets in White lake. The coat and pipe of Julius Salmonson, the cap of Hazletine, and the false bottom of their boat have been found.

Threats had been made against the state officers, who have interfered with the trade of the illegal fishermen.

EMPRESS AN DEAD; PART OF INTRIGUE?

dowager empress in a lucid interval on Friday last received Prince Ching, who is a Manchu and a member of the royal family, and approved the edicts declaring Prince Pu-Yi heir presumptive and Prince Chun regent of the empire. Prince Ching was, at the beginning of the boxer outbreak, lord chamberlain of the court and commander of the Peking field forces. It was on Prince Ching that the foreign officials hung hopes of the safety of the envoys. He has held many official positions and was high in imperial favor.

New Regime Keeps Order.

That the dowager empress took this step is discredited; nevertheless, she is believed to have successfully established the Chun regime, which is the Manchu régime, without obstacle, and the opinion is held here that this solution of the difficulty which has necessarily confronted the government is the best possible.

Until word of the dowager's death is spread broadcast, no general disorders are apprehended. China is quieter now than at any time since 1900. Local disorders in the south are possible on any pretext, but the north is more inclined to peace. There are few signs of antagonism to foreigners, and there is no manner of doubt that Prince Chun will be able to met the situation, as he is recognized as thoroughly progressive, and he is the most acceptable man that could be chosen to those most disposed to cause trouble, the reformers. Antagonism on the part of the conservatives, and even an insurrectionary movement is conceivable, because the death of the powerful woman who dominated all, and the weakling emperor, sweeps away the old palace corruptionists.

From Slavery to Throne.

Tsze Hsi An (or western empress) was born Nov. 17, 1834. She was the child of poor people who lived in Peking. At an early age, following a common practice in China, she was sold as a slave by her parents on account of their poverty. She became the property of a famous general, who, enchanted with her great beauty, adopted her and offered her as a present to the reigning emperor, Hsien-Feng. She so charmed the emperor by her looks and intelligence that he made her his secondary wife, and on her bearing him a son, Tung-Chih, who became emperor, raised her to the first rank.

On his death she became the regent of the empire, administering the national affairs with more vigor than any of her predecessors. Her authority was complete over about 14,000 officials and over the welfare and lives of the vast majority of the inhabitants of China, who number close to 400,000,000.

It had been said of the dowager empress that she would long outlive the emperor. Only a few months ago she appeared to be enjoying the best of health; her hair retained its black Mongolian gloss; her eyes their Manchu luster, and her hands a firm grasp of the scepter.

Last Years Were Sanguinary.

Age did not seem to have embittered her at the close of a strictly terrible career, although the last decade had intensified her sanguinary record. She entered the palace as an inferior concubine, and authority came to her by virtue of fecundity. She became the mother of an emperor, and her political career began with the wholesale beheading of princes in 1861, by which she established her son on the throne. A slaughter of reformers and others took place thirty-seven years later, following the coup d'état in 1898.

Two years after this she deliberately, upon advice, set about slaughtering all Christians and foreigners, giving $30,000 from her private funds toward carrying on the work. But, even with this, it is said of her reign that it has been free from the bloodthirstiness that characterised the reigns of her predecessors; that she beheaded but few persons of station, and that she exercised clemency and pardoned numerous criminals.

Two nominal emperors succeeded to the title held by her husband, and she was responsible for both. She put her son, Tung-Chih, on the throne, and upon his sudden death enthroned the son of her dead husband's brother. The latter was the late emperor, Kuang-Hsu. She dethroned him in 1900 and made Pu Chun, son of Prince Tuan, heir apparent, without authority, as the succession in China is only rightfully determined by the emperor. Pu Chun, again, she degraded in obedience to the mandate of the allies, because his father was the leader of the Boxers in the palace, restoring Kuang-Hsu.

HOME RULE BLOW IN ETTELSON BILL

Critics of Public Utilities Measure Fear Effect on Local Independence.

PREDICT CERTAIN DEFEAT

Walter L. Fisher and Ald. Milton J. Foreman Emphasize the Rights of Chicago.

If State Senator Ettelson thought he would make himself popular in Chicago with his proposed "public utilities bill," it looks as if he had made a mistake. Commendations of the measure emanated from no source yesterday, but expressions of disapproval were numerous. It is urged against it that instead of being an advance in the kind of government the city wants, it is a step backward and calculated to seriously embarrass the work of procuring a new charter.

The main objection made to it is that it knocks down the principle of home rule for which Chicago has been striving so long. Furthermore, it is urged that it does not fill any long felt want, that it would prove bad in operation because of the demonstrated impossibility of making uniform regulations for Chicago and the smaller communities of the state, and that it cumbers instead of making more simple the control of the state over corporations.

Walter L. Fisher, representing the class of citizens who have spent much time in studying civic problems, and Ald. Milton J. Foreman, speaking for the type of aldermen who have tried to put this study into practical effect, both disapprove of it. The average politician is against it on general principles. As for the corporations, their officers said they did not want to talk about it. It is a fair presumption, however, they do not think much of it.

Blow at Local Independence.

"There are many plain objections to the proposition," said Mr. Fisher, yesterday. "The most pronounced one is that it violates the principle of home rule for which all of us have been fighting so long.

"The theory on which the charter amendment was passed was that the civic problems in Chicago were different from those in the smaller communities of the state, and the legislation which applied to one was not efficacious in the other.

"The bill, as I gather it, is intended as a copy of and improvement on the Hughes bill in New York. But in that bill Gov. Hughes tried to preserve the principle of home rule by providing two commissions, one for Greater New York and the other for the rest of the state.

"At that, serious faults have been found with the Hughes law, and some of them seem well founded. I do not mean to say that a state commission intended to make uniform and in any manner regulate the workings of corporations in Illinois would be objectionable, but it should be created with the idea of doing work beyond the province of the cities, not work which properly belongs to the local municipality.

"Its relations to the cities should be those of the national government to the states. I think any attempt to govern Chicago from Springfield is doomed to defeat."

Settle Troubles Without Aid.

"It brings back memories of the old days when the Humphrey bill was proposed," remarked Ald. Foreman. "That bill proposed to regulate Chicago's street car affairs from Springfield through a commission appointed by the governor and Chicago resented it so bitterly it was beaten. We had an idea we could settle our own troubles without outside interference. We have settled the street car difficulties and I imagine we can settle the others coming up without calling in the rest of the state.

"The one thing we argued when we asked for the charter amendment was that the conditions in Chicago and the other cities in the state are different and the rule which applies to one does not to the other. We asked that the people of Chicago have the right to rule themselves and the proposed charter emphasizes that by proposing a referendum on important measures. If a man's gas meter is wrong, he can get quicker attention by going to the city hall than appealing to a state commission which has its offices at Springfield."

Ettelson Glad to Change It.

"If it is thought that one commission covering the entire state would be opposed to the principle of home rule it would be easy enough to make it two commissions, one for Chicago and one for the rest of the state," said Senator Ettelson. "That is simply a detail and does not affect the principle of the bill.

"The commission could accomplish many things which now we are powerless to do. The plan is popular in New York on account of its results. It would prove of equal benefit to Chicago."

1,000 TRUE BILLS EXPECTED

Present Grand Jury Likely to Indict 200 for Vote Frauds.

SPEED SHOWN IN THE QUIZ.

Big Appropriation to Be Asked After New County Board Is Seated.

With the result of the first full week's work as a basis it is estimated the special county grand jury will return nearly 200 indictments for election frauds before its term of life expires.

The extra panel can sit until Dec. 5, a date which leaves three weeks of deliberation and action, and as during the first week, although progress was delayed by the inexperience of both jurors and attorneys presenting the evidence, thirty-eight indictments were voted. Toward the end of the week progress was much more rapid, and it is anticipated that at least fifty indictments will be returned during each of the remaining weeks.

It is probable also that not only one but several additional special panels may be authorized later, so that the total of indictments may approach or even pass the thousand mark. Special State's Attorney Frank J. Loesch is certain that the present jury cannot complete the work now on hand, and as the investigators are continuing their researches more rapidly than the testimony can be presented and acted on, the pile of evidence instead of diminishing is increasing.

Hinges on Court Decision.

The final total of indictments, or rather the continued pressing of the investigation, depends largely on two developments of the future. The first is the decision of Judge Mack, expected within a few days, whether the county can appropriate money to pay for all the phases of the investigation; and the second is the attitude of the new or reorganized county board toward the expenditure of county funds for this purpose.

The appropriation of $19,500 now held up by the injunction proceedings brought by Attorney Henry M. Ashton, who contends that the first funds available must be used for publishing the tax lists of 1907 in accordance with a mandate of Judge Mack, is regarded as only a small part of the sum necessary for the grand jury and court expense of the prosecutions.

That amount may be consumed before the new board, which will be seated on Dec. 7, has fully taken up its duties, and it is probable that the appropriation then to be asked will be a large one. It is estimated that the total expense of the investigation and prosecution will approximate $100,000.

Suggestions Likely to Wait.

With this prospect ahead it is believed that the present body will confine its attention to the filing of formal charges against offenders brought to its attention and will leave the matter of suggesting changes in the primary law to a later jury.

This jury has evidenced a desire to criticise the election machinery; but as more comprehensive results in the way of recommendations can be obtained after all of the evidence has been heard probably no presentation of its criticisms will be made.

Among the principal amendments now named are the abolition of the appointment of election judges and officials by the election commissioners and the elimination of voting by affidavit.

To avoid the necessity of accepting votes of unregistered voters on affidavit, it has been suggested that the registration board make a canvass of the precincts as late as two weeks before election day.

The grand jury will resume its labors tomorrow morning, and is expected to sit every day during the week except Saturday.

KEPT BUSY ON TUNNEL PLANS.

Board of Supervising Engineers Works Overtime Preparing Report to Be Presented to Council.

The office force of the board of supervising engineers worked overtime yesterday preparing plans for the rehabilitation of the river tunnels demanded by the Foell resolution. It is promised they will be ready for the council meeting tonight. When received they will go to the committee on local transportation.

The plans are to be dual—one set for putting the tunnels back into commission at once and under present surface road conditions, the other for their use in connection with a subway system. Engineer Bion J. Arnold has drawn them so as to provide for a change from surface to subway approaches, but says he could make them more definite if he had fuller information about the subway.

The promise of an exciting council meeting is not good. Only routine business is in sight.

WANT POSTOFFICE GYMNASIUM.

Clerks Also Ask for Recreation, Study, and Lecture Rooms in Proposed New Building.

The postoffice clerks desire that a study room, recreation room, lecture room, gymnasium and shower baths be provided for in the new postoffice building to be constructed on the west side. A resolution to that effect was adopted at the monthly meeting of the Postoffice Clerks' association in the Masonic temple yesterday.

CHICAGO SPIRIT AT BOYS' DINNER

Association of Commerce Prepares Banquet to Recruit Industrial Patriots.

MOVEMENT WILL LIVE.

Members to Execute a Plan by Which Younger Generation Will Carry on Work.

A unique dinner to boys and young men will be given next Friday night at the Auditorium by the Chicago Association of Commerce. It will signalize the inauguration of a new policy of educating the younger generation in Chicago patriotism and in the ideals and aims of the big trade boosting organization. More than 1,000 guests are expected.

The invitations which were issued yesterday request each member to bring with him at least two young men, either his own or the sons of some relative or friend. The dinner is to be one particularly tempting to the unjaded appetites of the young, and the courses will be interspersed with the association songs composed by Angus Hibbard, including a new one dedicated to the boys.

Speeches designed to inspire a greater love for Chicago and interest in its future will be made by Richard C. Hall, the Rev. William T. McElveen, Charles L. Hutchinson, John W. Scott, William S. Kies, Prof. George E. Vincent, and Mr. Mason B. Starring.

Spread the Chicago Spirit.

"The question of bringing the sons of members and other young men in Chicago into closer relationship with the association's activities and to a better understanding of its methods and problems has been under consideration for some time," says the official announcement. "The suggestion of giving a dinner to such young men was made by President Hall in a recent address at Good Fellowship Rally No. 4, Sept. 16, at the Auditorium.

"The matter has been further discussed at the president's cabinet meetings and at the executive meetings, and the many ideas advanced have finally crystallized in the present plan.

"There will be a number of good speeches on subjects chosen with the idea to inspire in the young man that same love of city and desire for a better and broader civic life that the association membership represents, and in every way to teach the doctrines of the association and make the occasion an initial step towards establishing a permanent interest in the younger minds of the association's affairs and to implant therein a proper degree of civic pride and love of Chicago."

Means Movement Will Live.

In speaking of the plans, Mr. Starring said yesterday: "The proposed dinner to the sons of members will be given in recognition of the fact that the present membership must look to the sons of members and to the Chicago boys of today as the future strength of the association.

"The young man can not learn too early in life that the Chicago Association of Commerce stands for the highest ideals of commercial integrity and square merchandising, and, almost before they have time to realize their responsibility, the boys of today will be called to the highest places of trust in the offices of our big commercial, industrial, and educational institutions and to high places in the administration of the government in local, state, and national affairs.

"Also they must prepare themselves for the active management of such organizations as the Chicago Association of Commerce by studying its methods and its problems."

Willard Hall Noon Meetings.

Willard hall noonday meetings for this week will be as follows: Monday, prayer and praise service; Tuesday, G. A. Cressey; Wednesday, the Rev. W. W. Edwards; Thursday, Christian Missionary alliance; Friday, the Rev. Edward Drew; Saturday, John Henderson.

HELD FOR ROBBING CANTEEN

Arthur C. Babcock Taken as Deserter After 9 Years in Army.

FIGHTS WITH DETECTIVES.

Fred E. Buck Arrested for Stealing Rings from Woman Benefactor.

Arthur C. Babcock, who for nine years served honorably in the United States field artillery, will be sent to West Point, N. Y., charged with burglary, robbery, and desertion. The specific accusation is that he robbed the post canteen, which is operated on a coöperative basis, for the benefit of enlisted men, and fled with $50.

Babcock was traced to Chicago and later to the house of Mrs. Rudolph Wilde, whom he claims as his sister, at 462 Clybourn avenue, where a watch was established by Detective Sergeants Trafton and Sharpe in spite of Mrs. Wilde's announcement that Babcock had gone, probably to Montana. Late in the afternoon the man entered, and after a glance at Sharpe sprang on him, struggling to seize the butt of a revolver which protruded from a holster under the detective's coat. When overpowered he was taken to Fort Sheridan and turned over to the authorities there.

"I should have been quicker," he said ruefully. "If I could have got that gun, I'd be going yet."

Repays Kindness with Theft.

Fred E. Buck also was arrested by Detectives Trafton and Sharpe in the afternoon. He is charged with stealing the engagement ring and wedding ring of a woman who had befriended him for his mother's sake. Both rings were found in his possession and he admitted taking them. According to Buck's admission he has a natural tendency to steal things, and his father, a former letter carrier, was convicted of stealing from the mails and served a term in prison for it.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kinne, a dressmaker at 1635 Harrison street, is the complainant. She and Buck's mother went to school together, and, knowing that the boy—he is 19 years old—was not employed, she summoned him to her residence and gave him a suit of clothes. When he had gone Mrs. Kinne missed her rings and reported the theft to the police.

Couldn't Help Stealing.

"I couldn't help stealing the rings," Buck said last night in his cell. "When I was a little fellow I used to steal loose change from my parents, and I suppose I got the habit then."

Buck told the police that his mother lives at 5642 South boulevard, Austin.

FORAKER DEFENDS OIL EMPLOYMENT.

Prints Letters Outlining His Work for Standard in Ohio Cases.

TRUST GIVES CLEAN BILL.

Says Senator Never Took Anything Inconsistent with Public Duties.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Senator Joseph B. Foraker tonight made public letters in connection with his employment by the Standard Oil company, and in answer to charges made against him in the recent presidential campaign.

A letter from Virgil P. Kline of Cleveland, O., tells of Foraker's work as legal adviser in litigation in which the Standard Oil company of Ohio was involved about ten years ago.

Kline states that the company had no desire to evade the law and that the cases finally were dismissed. He says Foraker, as far as he (Kline) knows, never accepted anything from the company inconsistent with his public duties.

Senator's Statement with Letters.

"With the publication of these letters," says Senator Foraker, "which, added to my former statements, should, in my opinion, satisfy any fair minded man, I submit to the legislature, as every other candidate must do, the question as to who shall be my successor in the senate.

"I do not mean by this statement that I do not intend to give any further attention to the impending contest, but rather that I do not intend to engage in any unseemly scramble."

Kline's Letter in Reply.

In answer to a letter from the senator requesting it, Virgil P. Kline of Cleveland, O., sent the following explanation of Foraker's employment by the Standard in Ohio:

Kline, Tolles & Goff, 1215 Williamson Building, Cleveland, O., Oct. 6, 1908.—Joseph B. Foraker, Cincinnati, O.—My Dear Sir: In December, 1899, at the time you were employed by me, there was pending against the Standard Oil company, in the Supreme court of the state of Ohio, a proceeding in quo warranto instituted by the attorney general charging that company with having willfully violated the order of the Supreme court directing it to withdraw from the trust agreement.

"There was also pending against the Buckeye Pipe Line company a proceeding in quo warranto, charging it with being a member of a trust, also a like proceeding against the Ohio Oil company and the Solar Refining company, and one of a like character, at that time, I think, threatened against the Standard Oil company of Ohio, and which was brought in January, 1900. These were so-called constituent companies of the Standard Oil trust.

"These pills in quo warranto were filed in the Supreme court and asked for the revocation of the charters of the said several corporations, the appointment of receivers to take possession of the properties, and the dissolution of the various companies.

Wanted to Get Out of Trust.

"The company in Ohio which had been ordered to withdraw from the trust agreement could not afford to permit itself to be put, nor could the gentlemen who managed it permit themselves to be put in the attitude of defying the law. A heavy fine might have been imposed, a receiver might have been appointed, and the vast business of the organization irreparably injured.

"It was upon a realization of these serious and disastrous consequences, well knowing your ability as an attorney, and the respect lawyers and courts had for you throughout the state, that I sought your service.

"Your employment extended over a period of more than two years, during which time I was repeatedly in consultation with you, and there was no phase of the litigation of which you were not fully abreast all the time. So far from the attitude of the company being one of a desire to evade the law or the decree of the court, it had faithfully endeavored to comply therewith. You understood perfectly our desire and cooperated with it.

Gives Senator Clean Bill.

"At the time of your employment and when it ceased, as it did, according to my recollection, somewhere about the 1st of January, 1901, there was no intimation from any source whatever of criticism or attack on the part of the federal government. That did not come for more than four years afterwards, and so far as I know, and I have been intimately in touch with the litigation and troubles of the company for twenty years, and am still, nothing has ever been asked of or accepted by you inconsistent with your public duties, and so far as I know you have had no relation whatever to the company, as an attorney or otherwise, for more than seven years. With kindest regards, I am truly yours. VIRGIL P. KLINE."

A corroboration of Kline's letter, also requested by Foraker, was sent to the senator from the Standard's New York office.

Eugene Keller, Sought for Two Years by Chicago Police, Is Arrested in New York City.

Eugene Keller, whom the police of Chicago have been seeking for the last two years, was arrested last night in New York City on information received from Chicago. He is charged with passing worthless checks on Marshall Field & Co. and several other department stores and business offices. Detectives will be sent from Chicago today with extradition papers for Keller's return.

SAYS LAW BARS ANY COMBINE

U. S. Court Holds All Competition Barred Under Sherman Act.

FIGHT CARRIED ON HIGHER.

Bench Styles Tobacco Ruling Revolutionary but Right.

New York, Nov. 15.—The sweeping character of the recent decision of the United States Circuit court in declaring the American Tobacco company to be a combination in restraint of trade, is attracting widespread attention in business circles and in the legal profession.

This is more particularly for the decision's scope and effect upon all classes of industrial combinations engaged in interstate traffic.

An appeal from this decision to the United States Supreme court is now in active process of preparation.

The consensus of opinion is that the recent decision gives a definiteness and scope of interpretation far beyond any judicial utterances heretofore made.

Act Revolutionary but Valid.

Judge Lacombe, in his majority opinion in the present case, defines the status of the law as follows:

"Following the several propositions which have been approved by the Supreme court, this language (of the Sherman act) is to be construed as prohibiting any contract or combination whose direct effect is to prevent the free play of competition, and thus tend to deprive the country of the services of any number of independent dealers, however small.

"As thus construed the statute is revolutionary. By this it is not intended to imply that the construction is incorrect. The act may be termed revolutionary because before its passage, the courts had recognized a 'restraint of trade' which was held not to be unfair, but permissible, although it operated in some measure to restrain competition.

All Restraints Under the Ban.

"The act, as above construed, prohibits every contract or combine in restraint of competition. Size is not made the test; two individuals who have been driving rival express wagons between villages in two contiguous states, who enter into a combine to join forces and operate a single line restrain the existing competition, and it would seem to make little difference whether they make such combine more effective by forming a partnership or not.

"What benefits may have come from this combine, or from others complained of, it is not material to inquire."

TAFT WILL TAKE UP TARIFF SOON AFTER HE GETS OFFICE.

President Elect Says He Will Call Special Sessions for Revision as Quickly as Reasonable.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—William H. Taft, president elect, after spending the day at the White house as the guest of President Roosevelt, stated that he intended to call a special session of congress to take up the matter of tariff revision as soon after his inauguration as would be reasonable.

Mr. Taft left tonight for Cincinnati, O., where he had been summoned on matters of family importance. The day proved a busy one for the president elect. He spent the night at the White house and breakfasted this morning with the family. During the early forenoon the president and the president elect discussed matters of importance to the present and the incoming administration.

President Roosevelt and Mr. Taft attended church, the former going to the Dutch Reformed and the latter to All Souls' Unitarian.

When his attention was called to the hearings now being held by the ways and means committee of the house looking toward the revision of the tariff Mr. Taft said that now is the time for the interests that have been asking for a revision to come forward and produce their arguments.

PRESIDENT FOR 2 NEW STATES.

Tells Judge He Will Urge Enabling Act for Arizona and New Mexico as Separate Commonwealths.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A few days after election Chief Justice Edward Kent wrote from Phoenix to President Roosevelt advising him of the election of Ralph Cameron as delegate and suggesting that the Republican victory would appear as a great aid in Arizona's application for early statehood.

Judge Kent expressed the hope that the president would make a recommendation in his message for separate statehood for Arizona and New Mexico so that an enabling act could be passed at the short session.

The president responded as follows:

"I have your letter of the 5th. That is really good business. I am delighted that Cameron was elected and shall, of course, urge separate statehood for Arizona and New Mexico in my message. If Gov. Kibbey comes here I will help him in every way in the preparation and urging of such a measure. Faithfully yours.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

NEW HOSPITAL ALMOST READY.

Will Be Opened Next Monday for All Contagious Cases Except Smallpox.

MEANS MUCH TO PUBLIC.

Prevents Contact with Persons Suffering with Any Infectious Diseases.

The new isolation hospital for the care and treatment of diphtheria and scarlet fever patients will be opened one week from today, according to a bulletin issued yesterday by the health department.

"It has been a reproach to Chicago that no hospital for the care of contagious diseases, except smallpox, has been maintained," says the bulletin. "The opening of the new isolation hospital therefore marks a most important advance in the work of safeguarding the public health.

Means Protection for Public.

"Many of the hardships that have been brought about through the imposition of quarantine restrictions in the home will now be avoided. Formerly it has been necessary to prohibit the inmates of infected premises from mingling with the public. The wageearners of afflicted families have been obliged to live away from their homes during the period of illness there, or if remaining at home in contact with the contagion they have been obliged to stop work and remain on the infected premises."

Aiding War on Tuberculosis.

For the first time in the history of the city the number of cases of tuberculosis reported to the health department last week exceeded the number of deaths from that disease. By persistent warning the department has caused physicians to be more careful in reporting such cases. The bulletin says:

"The department attaches great importance to its records of tuberculosis cases. The fight against this scourge cannot be effectively carried on without such records. We have been far behind the other leading cities in this country and abroad in this respect until now. The response of the doctors is indeed gratifying. The good work of the last week must be kept up."

MYSTERY IN CASE OF A BOY WHO WAIVES CHICAGO RIGHTS.

Russian Youth Wanted at Home for Forging School Certificate Believed to Be Aboard Liner.

New York, Nov. 6.—[Special.]—Apollinarius Alexandrovitch, the 17 year old Russian boy who was delivered to Russian agents in Chicago after waiving his rights in extradition proceedings at that city, and for whose protection Judge Lacombe of the United States court of this city issued a writ of habeas corpus on Saturday, is believed to be on board the Russian liner Korea, which sailed for Libau, Russia, this morning. The boy is being taken back to Russia to be tried for forging a certificate that he had passed four grades in the high school, which certificate, it appears, also constitutes a sort of passport in Russia.

Where the boy was taken on reaching here on Saturday remained a mystery today, and no confirmation could be had of the report that he was confined in the Russian consul general's office. It was impossible, also, to learn whether charges other than that of the high school certificate forgery were hanging over his head in Russia.

Prof. Hourwich, one of those interested in the boy, said that while he and his colleagues did not believe that the high school forgery was an extraditable one, it was felt that it would be unwise to try to hold the boy in this country. The reports from Chicago, where the extradition was sanctioned, Prof. Hourwich added, were that the boy had waived all his rights, and there was a chance that had they prevented his sailing on the Korea he might have repudiated their efforts in his behalf when brought before Judge Lacombe.

Child Burned by Explosion.

Rose Miro, 9 years old, was burned severely about the face and hands yesterday afternoon by the explosion of a stove in the kitchen of her parents' residence, 51 Orleans street. She was taken to Passavant hospital.

Providence Seen in the Lives of Roosevelt and Taft.

SOUTH TO FEED THE ORIENT.

Methodist Official Talks of Church Extension Work.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—"Is it talking politics to say that God arranged to have Theodore Roosevelt live on a western ranch until he knew the value of irrigation, or that God ordered in his providence that William H. Taft should become an expert in knowledge of the orient?"

These were questions asked by the Rev. Dr. Ward Platt of Philadelphia, corresponding secretary of the board of home missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, in addressing a massmeeting today.

What Transformed the West.

"The two words that explain the mighty transformation of the west," Dr. Platt continued, "are irrigation and dry farming. Some of our western cities have doubled their population in four years. Forty-five thousand homesteads have been taken up in New Mexico in the last two years. We can't keep up with the church work."

Speaking of the orient and America's relation to it, Dr. Platt said:

"The south is destined to feed the orient. Texas raises three-quarters of all the rice raised in the world. Rice is the staple food of the orient, as cotton is the staple clothing. In India there are hundreds of thousands who never have food enough to eat. America can and will feed and clothe them."

Taft as Providential Man.

It was in connection with this reference to the orient that President Elect Taft was spoken of as an expert in knowledge of the orient, the codifier of the laws of the Philippines, and the providential man who will direct the United States wisely in establishing profitable relations between the two countries.

FORGETTING the Nashville tragedy for a moment, let us look at San Francisco.

No, THE south has no absolute monopoly of the pistol carrying and pistol shooting business.

AN economical New Yorker has figured out that the expense of maintaining a fine automobile may be kept within a limit of $2,300 a year by judicious management. Even at this low cost, however, a $15 a week clerk may well hesitate before investing in one of the more expensive machines.

MR. BRYAN finds himself still unable to understand "how it happened." The explanation is that it didn't "happen." The people did it deliberately and on purpose.

TAXPAYERS, perhaps, would like to know whether those forty-four miles of worn out cedar block pavement were "repaired" by putting down more cedar blocks.

THAT St. Louis young man who was fined $1,000 for mashing may be considered thoroughly and satisfactorily crushed.

CHRISTMAS will fall on Friday this year. This is where Thanksgiving day has the advantage. It never comes on Friday.

THE election forecaster who is wise will have two sets of campaign predictions, and will use them with discretion and with a careful selection of his audiences.

WHAT if you don't know anything about football? You can use your voice. Yell when the others do.

INASMUCH as Mr. Bryan has expressed a regret that he cannot reward his faithful followers by giving them offices, it would seem that he is not in favor of electing postmasters by direct vote of the people.

IT can be proved that the Standard Oil company has the controlling interest in a lot of the money of this country, also. Let us quit accepting money.

"THIS is the worst thing that could happen to me!" exclaimed Ruef when Heney was shot. Heney will do his best to make it the worst, if he recovers.

THE Thanksgiving proclamation of Gov. Harris of Ohio was unusually brief. He couldn't think of much he had to be thankful for this year.

KAISER WILHELM has limitations, of course, that do not apply in the case of a president of the United States.

COUNT that day lost whose low descending sun sees no new boom for Mr. Root begun.

ALREADY they are nominating Judson Harmon as the Democratic candidate in 1912. Mr. Harmon is an Ohio man, but Ohio's specialty is being the mother of Republican presidents.

ANYWAY, Mr. Stagg's athletes took some of the I-yell out of that Cornell bunch.

HEREAFTER the Maroons should be able to tackle any eastern aggregation without the slightest symptom of stage fright or buck fever.

THE committee that is giving these tariff hearings will please remember that the people are doing some of the listening.

IT will be some satisfaction to Mr. Metcalf, in his retirement, to know that he was the secretary of the biggest navy the country ever had.

THINGS may come to such a pass after awhile that it will be positively dangerous to take a hand in any election fraud whatsoever.

IF the emperor of China is dead, long live the emperor of China!

BARGAIN day. Better do some of that Christmas shopping.

PAID your wheel tax?

SCORE ONE FOR THE CHIEF OF POLICE.

Chief Shippy's little collaboration with the city collector seems to be a gratifying success. The rounding up of wheel tax delinquents was a neat and effective piece of work for which the police department deserves credit. We trust the city collector will see the moral of this incident. The city needs money. Its lawful source of revenue should be neglected. The city collector would do well to buy an alarm clock if he cannot keep awake to this fact.

THE FUTURE OF OPPOSITION.

Mr. Bryan's remarks in this week's Commoner would be more comforting to Mr. Bryan's followers if what he calls "the cause" were not in its most popular and influential aspects as much the Republican cause as his own. Mr. Bryan seems not to have learned from the late campaign that he cannot coin success from the generalizations which the whole American people accept and which the opposing party has not only approved but, considering the inevitable difficulties of political action, has in substantial measure put into practice.

The gist of the weakness of Mr. Bryan's "cause" is that it is not a cause. It is a mixture of incontestable political truths which the opposing party recognizes and is working to realize, and proposals which the common sense of the public repudiates. The gist of the weakness of Mr. Bryan's leadership is that it does not wish to be conservative and does not dare to be radical. His last campaign was founded upon the most patent opportunism, resulting in many of the conservative Democrats "regularizing" themselves, not as a sign of their acceptance of Mr. Bryan or his "cause," but in the hope of having a hand in an expected reorganization of the party under another leader after Mr. Bryan's defeat.

The Republican party, like the majority of the American people today, is intrinsically conservative. Happily this conservatism is vitalized by a strong idealistic and progressive strain, the triumph of which in the party organization under the leadership of President Roosevelt, Secretary Taft, and other progressives has been the despair of the Bryan Democracy.

In the face of this development Mr. Bryan's party has neither retreated to the ground of the older Democracy nor advanced to a radical position. It has run down the road like a panic stricken hen and been run over, as it deserved. It had no issue and it had no candidate. In place of the one it had platitudes and panaceas; in the place of the other it had Mr. Bryan vigorously trying at one and the same time to be Mr. Bryan and not Mr. Bryan.

Such a situation could only spell deserved defeat.

The formation of a radical party, not socialistic but individualist-radical, with a consistent, practical program of social reform, of economic and financial policy not evolved by quacks and smatterers, with carefully thought out and consistent theories on national development and international relation, would gather to itself a strong and compact following, would develop forceful leadership, and prove an effective force for good. The best of the Republican party, without turning from its own allegiance, would recognize the importance of such opposition to its own party welfare. It would clarify the political atmosphere, stimulate interest in public questions, act as a tonic upon the Republican party to keep it clean and wakeful.

Such a party might not win in national elections soon. But it would achieve substantial reforms directly and indirectly. Nothing could be worse for the country, nothing could be worse for the Republican party than the lack of an aggressive, intelligent opposition party. Unchallenged conservatism degenerates into bourbonism, and bourbonism invites unchecked radicalism or revolution.

THE NIGHT RIDERS' CAUSE.

There is an economic reason back of the night riding in the south. The difficulties in the way of checking it are forcibly indicated by the sharp debate in the cotton convention at Memphis a few days ago. A discussion of better methods of baling and handling cotton was interrupted by a digression to the subject of night riding. The speaker took the conventional attitude, attacking the night riders as a curse and as people who shoot in the back.

He was interrupted by another, who said that the night riders were oppressed people, fighting for what they believed to be right, working against overwhelming odds, but always from the best motives. This bold declaration nearly broke up the convention. Sympathy and encouragement must always be given to those who stand up for law and order. But the incident shows how many people in the south feel. There are economic problems connected with the tobacco and cotton industries which are behind the night riding movement. Until the fundamental evils are cured those who use lawless methods will have the negative support at least of many who would otherwise unite in their denunciation.

THE LARGE CITY ASSEMBLY HALL.

The remarkable growth of the large city as a fixed feature of modern life has made a great assembly hall a necessity. Conventions and circuses, flower shows and horse shows, trade expositions and other special displays make large demands. The land to be obtained in accessible locations is steadily increasing in value. The expenses of maintenance are heavy. There are times when the property is idle. Here are the needs and the drawbacks set one against the other.

Just now New York is disturbed by the report that the Madison Square garden is to be removed to give place to some structure that will be commercially profitable. It is a building having something of artistic merit. It has been the scene of many famous meetings. It has proved just the right place for the various kinds of assemblages for which there is need. But it has not paid its owners. Hence the talk of its demolition.

The metropolitan press is lamenting the prospect. City ownership, private endowment by people of wealth, and alteration so as to secure regular income from parts of it are suggested in the effort to save it. The situation in New York may lead to propositions that will be helpful in other cities. Three things seem to be generally appreciated. A structure of this character should be of some architectural merit. It should be large enough to meet the greatest demands upon it. It should be so constructed as to permit a steady income from part of it while still furnishing the spacious arena needed on special occasions.

Interested people in other large cities will watch the course of events in New York with hope for a happy solution that will help in determining a matter of common concern.

HELPING THE BLIND.

Some dependents are perfectly content to be cared for by others. But there are many who chafe under a forced inability to contribute to their own support. One of the most hopeful things about modern philanthropy is the intelligent effort which is being put forth to alleviate the condition of this latter class. A life of helplessness is unhappy at best. Such a life, when the sufferer is eager and anxious to do something for himself, is a tragedy.

This is the consideration which brings hearty indorsement to the plans of the Chicago Woman's club for providing opportunity for the blind. It is pointed out that there are perhaps 2,500 blind people in Chicago. Not more than 100 of these are engaged in paying, profitable occupations. At least 50 per cent of the others are ablebodied and possessed of all their senses except that of sight. A large number of these will be aided to endeavor if the plans now under consideration are matured.

The proposition is both humanitarian and economic. The drain on the community is always great for the support of its unfortunate and dependent members. A plan that will combine happiness for the individual with relief for those who must bear the burden of caring for their less favored neighbors represents the best ideals for the philanthropic endeavor which notably marks modern civilization.

WEED OUT INCOMPETENTS.

Mayor Busse overstated the case when he said of city employés generally that they seem to think they are required to do only one-fifth of a day's work. That may be true of some, but the majority probably act on the assumption that they ought to do only three-fourths or four-fifths as much work in a day as they would have to do if they were working for some private individual or corporation.

This is not to be wondered at, for they are not kept up to their work by those immediately over them as are men in private employ. The latter would not keep the pace they do if they did not know that their employment depended on their keeping up to a certain standard.

The municipal employer will not and perhaps cannot get out of men what the private employer does. It is to the direct personal interest of the latter to get the most work he can. A failure to do that may mean bankruptcy. No such considerations influence those to whom a municipality intrusts the supervision of the mass of its subordinates. They wish to be popular with those under them, and the go easy policy is the one they naturally adopt. Perhaps the public cannot hope to get out of its employés more than 90 per cent of a fair day's work and should be content with that much.

Prior to the adoption of the civil service system an employé could be discharged offhand for inefficiency or any other cause. But the average of efficiency was no greater then than now. The number of absolutely unfit men who got places was greater under the spoils system than it is now. The city does not get any less work out of the average employé under civil service than it did under the old system. The probability is that it gets more. If it does not the blame rests with heads of bureaus, chief clerks, and foremen.

If an employé stands only about 60 or 70 out of a possible 100 as to efficiency there should be some superior officer who cares enough for the interests of the city to report him as a fit subject for discharge. No civil service commission, no matter how tender hearted it might be, would say that that man ought to keep his job. If it were to do so it would be sufficient reason for the appointment of a new commission.

WILL DR. WILEY INVESTIGATE?

It is to be hoped that the Hon. Champ Clark, who may attain the responsible position of minority leader in the national house of representatives, was speaking for rhetorical effect rather than giving expert testimony when he told the ways and means committee that after a man had three drinks he did not know what he was drinking.

However detrimental it may be to any gentleman to take three drinks, it must be vastly more so for him to be left unprotected against the deceits of trade upon undertaking to surround a fourth one.

The question seems to be more deserving of attention from the pure food department than from the tariff revisionists, but Mr. Clark has raised it, and for the protection of the indiscreet persons who may be served gasoline instead of gin it should be looked into.

GRAND DUCHESS ELIZABETH of Russia, sister of the czarina and widow of that Grand Duke Sergius who was blown to pieces by a nihilist bomb some three years ago, has not become a nun and the stories which have been published to that effect on both sides of the Atlantic are based on a misconception. The reports seem to have originated in the steps which the grand duchess has taken to organize an institution of nursing sisters, similar to those bodies of Protestant Sisters of Mercy in Germany who are known by the name of deaconesses, whose special work it is to nurse, and whose services, although occasionally invoked by the rich and even by members of the various reigning families, are devoted more especially to the care of the sick among the poor who have no money to pay for skilled attention of this kind.

The grand duchess has purchased for the headquarters of this institution several houses in the immediate vicinity of her palace at Moscow and looking on to its large garden, or rather, park, of which both the nursing sisters and their patients are to have the free use. The houses thus purchased are to serve as the home of the sisters and likewise for the care of such medical cases which it may be considered desirable to treat neither at home nor in the ordinary city hospitals. But the particular work of the sisters is to nurse the poor and sick in their own homes, and the entire city of Moscow has been divided up into districts for the purpose by the grand duchess. She is particularly keen about the affair and devotes all her time and a great deal of money to the work.

No member of the imperial family of Russia is more popular than the widowed grand duchess. Indeed, it is no exaggeration to assert that she is idolized by the people of Moscow. It may be remembered that even during the lifetime of her husband, who was execrated, he was immune from every nihilist attempt upon his life while she was by his side. It was only when one day the nihilists caught him alone without her that they at length assassinated him. Since then the affection in which she was held by the people of Moscow has still further increased to an extraordinary degree. The inhabitants of all classes appreciate her refusal both of the emperor's pressing offers to transfer her residence to St. Petersburg and of the invitations extended to her by her kinsfolk abroad to make her home either in her brother's grand duchy of Hesse, that is to say, the land of her birth, or in England, where she passed most of her childhood with her grandmother, Queen Victoria. She insisted upon remaining at Moscow, declaring that she had too many interests among the people there, too many friends from whom she did not wish to part, too many poor dependent upon her care, to enable her to leave. Moreover, she expressed the opinion that she could lead a more useful existence at Moscow, where she was needed, and where her entire married life had been spent, than either at St. Petersburg or abroad.

Elizabeth is the only member of the reigning house of Russia who makes her home in the ancient capital of the empire, and who holds court there, forming a center around which the society of the place can revolve, benefited by her wholesome influence, which acts as a salutary restraint. To be barred from her visiting list means in Moscow something akin to a social boycott and there are few who care under the circumstances to incur her displeasure even among those members of the old Russian aristocracy who have always continued to regard Moscow rather than St. Petersburg as the real metropolis of the empire and who have retained their town residences, or rather palaces, in the ancient capital rather than transfer them to the mouth of the Neva.

How beloved the widowed grand duchess is may be gathered from the fact that she is the only member of the reigning house who could visit alone and unattended every quarter of the great city of Moscow, by day or by night, without any harm befalling her and without being exposed to the slightest danger of injury or indignity. There is hardly a man, woman, or child at Moscow who is not familiar with her appearance and who does not know of her kindness and of her boundless charity of heart, head, and purse.

Duke Ernest Gunther of Schleswig-Holstein and his duchess have just been paying a state visit to Brussels and it has attracted a good deal of attention for the reason that it is the first state visit paid to the court of Belgium by any but oriental royalties in many a long day, the first, indeed, since the inauguration of the severe boycott to which King Leopold has been subjected for years by the various reigning houses of Europe. Another reason which has served to endow this visit of the duke and his wife with interest is the fact that the duchess is the grandchild of King Leopold. But he has never set eyes upon her since her infancy, has not met her since her marriage, and has until now been a perfect stranger to her. The duke is the only brother of the German empress and owing to this relationship has sometimes been delegated by the kaiser to represent him in connection with the courtesies due to foreign rulers. The duchess, Dorothea by name, is the only daughter of that Prince Philip of Coburg whose marriage to Princess Louise of Belgium, the eldest child of King Leopold, was sundered by divorce at Gotha under such sensational circumstances a few years ago.

The young duchess' life, at any rate prior to her marriage, has been an agitated one. In her childhood she was a witness of the unhappiness, neglect, and ill treatment of her mother, who when she found her husband's behavior intolerable at first sought refuge with her father at Brussels, imploring his protection and begging to be allowed to remain with him until a legal separation had been arranged. Leopold, however, denied her request, would not hear of a separation, declared that she would have to bear with her husband like every other woman, especially those belonging to the reigning houses, and ended by virtually ordering her to leave his dominions. Denied parental sympathy, Louise sought it elsewhere and found it in the Austrian cavalry captain, Mattatich, ultimately leaving Vienna with him for the Riviera, after a particularly violent scene with her husband, culminating in physical maltreatment at the latter's hands. To make matters worse she took her daughter Dorothea with her and this afforded an opportunity for Prince Philip to invoke the intervention of the French police in order to secure the removal of his child from her mother's company, on the ground that she was likely to be contaminated thereby.

It is unnecessary to recapitulate here the sad and sordid story of Princess Louise, of Mattatich's duel at Vienna with Prince Philip, of the seizure and sale of the princess' effects while in the Riviera at the instance of her creditors, of the charges of forgery and fraud brought against the captain and herself, of her incarceration in a madhouse, of his condemnation to penal servitude by a court martial at Vienna, of the remission of his sentence by Francis Joseph, his dramatic rescue of the princess from the madhouse and their flight to Paris, where Austrian alienists united with the most eminent French specialists in declaring not only that the princess was right minded but that she had never been insane. Leopold refused to have anything to do with her at first, would not even permit her to visit her mother on the latter's deathbed. But lately there has been a partial reconciliation and at his instance Louise has taken up her residence in a villa at Aix-la-Chapelle, which he has rented for her, at the same time supplying her with a sorely needed allowance. It is following upon this that the kaiser, to whose authority Duchess Dorothea, like her husband, is subject, has permitted her to visit her grandfather at Brussels.

The duchess, who was married at the early age of 16, and who, in spite of her youth, has managed to transform the duke from one of the most festive of rakes into an excellent husband, bears the most extraordinary resemblance to her mother in appearance and mannerisms, although she has not seen her since parted from her more than a decade ago at Nice by the police, and has been welcomed at Brussels with an exceptional amount of good will and kindness by the aristocracy and people there, who feel probably just as King Leopold must realize that the unhappiness of her childhood and the wreck of her unfortunate mother's life, with its attendant scandals, might all have been avoided if that mother had found the sympathy and protection when she sought it in vain at Brussels years ago.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

[No communications unaccompanied by the name and address of the writer—which will not be published if not desired—will appear. Communications for this department must not exceed 200 words.—Ed. Tribune.]

URGES A ROOSEVELT TESTIMONIAL.

Emporia, Kas., Nov. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—On March 4 there will leave Washington and on March 9 there will leave this country a man who has earned the solid respect and the affection of the best of the American people. This man has the rare good fortune among historical great characters to be appreciated in his own time and generation, and it seems fitting that his departure should be marked by some uncommon demonstration.

Theodore Roosevelt is going to a strange country, to be gone for a length of time and to be exposed possibly to fever and the mischances of the chase.

It does not seem that the greatest man in the world should be allowed to leave his native country at the close of a glorious and brilliant administration without some signal, and solemn, and affectionate good-by ceremony from those he has served so well. What would be the best and most appropriate time, place, and manner of this farewell? AMERICAN.

"FRAZZLE" DIFFERENT FROM "FRAY."

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I think you are mistaken in assuming that frazzle is merely a doublet of "fray." The words imply the same condition, but not the same manner of reaching it. If the raveling of a coat sleeve is the result of two years' wear, it is frayed; if it is the result of, for example, a fifteen seconds' trip along the pavement under an auto, it is worn to a frazzle. The word fray would not have expressed the president's meaning, the word frazzle representing his usual quick action. My only excuse for calling attention to this is I did not have to look in the dictionary for the word. H. L. DENIS.

DEFENSE OF THE PROHIBITION PARTY.

Keokuk, Ia., Nov. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—"L. A. W." seems worried because of the "relatively small number" of voters in the Prohibition party. Their votes "are to be regarded either as a negligible quantity or as a contribution to the saloon power."

Suppose we should decide to disband, which party would you advise us to fall in line with, L. A. W.? Is either of the old parties more against the saloon than is the other? Are they not both afraid to insert a plank in their platforms declaring against the saloon? Are Republicans more in favor of sobriety and decency than are Democrats, or vice versa?

The keel of the Prohibition ship is war on the saloon. Show us the party, outside of the Prohibition party, which dares to go to the polls without the backing of the saloonkeepers, brewers, distillers, and their dupes, and we will at once admit there is no occasion for a special organization to secure our avowed object.

The Prohibitionist believes that direct war against the low, demoralizing saloon is the surest method of advancing decent citizenship, and we are sorry to say no party but the Prohibition has ventured to hoist a banner which should represent the "conscientious convictions of men of all parties." K. H. LOUIS.

DOUGLAS PARK WOMEN CRITICISED.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A recent article in THE TRIBUNE headed "Tear Dresses from Babies" is interesting. What earthly right did those Douglas Park club women have to tear the clothing off the poor little babies? They believed the children would be given to the custody of Mrs. Foss instead of to their mother when they gave the little ones the dresses. Does this error of judgment of theirs give them the right to do such a gross injustice to the poor little creatures? It reads more like happening in heathenland, but the heathens would not be quite so inhuman. F. J. W.

SUBSTITUTE FOR UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Much has been written concerning the necessity of a universal language, and as I understand it little has been accomplished towards its attainment. It has occurred to me that one step could easily be taken that would help people of different tongues to understand each other.

Arrange alphabetically the desired number of English words, one under the other in single column, numbered consecutively; in the next column French words of the same meaning, numbered the same as the English words; in the next column German words of the same meaning and the same numbers, and so on through the fourteen principal languages.

If an Englishman wishes to communicate with an Italian all that will be necessary for him to do is to look up the numbers of the words he wishes to use in English and write those numbers down one under the other and hand the slip to the Italian, at the same time showing him the instructions in the book printed in Italian. The Italian will see his way clear to look up the numbers in his own language and as the words are of corresponding meaning he will reply by the same method. A. L. CAMPFIELD.

PROBABLY PLACED ON FILE BY BOARD.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There was exhibited at a meeting of the board of local improvements, held about a month ago, a plan for a boulevard link designed by two comparatively unknown architects, which, in the opinion of all unbiased persons with whom I have conversed on the subject, is as far ahead of the "stilt" plan, in both æsthetic design and practicability, as it is less expensive in cost of construction.

It contemplates an extension of the Lake Shore drive southward to Grant park, with a bridge, either high or low (the former preferred), near the entrance to the harbor. The cost of this is estimated at $2,000,000, including, I think, a grand triumphal arch spanning Michigan avenue and Randolph street.

With this project completed, those riding for pleasure, by a slight detour, could avoid the business district when going from Lincoln park to Grant park, and Rush street bridge could and undoubtedly would be devoted almost wholly to business purposes.

The bridge at the harbor entrance might be made "a thing of beauty and a joy forever" to those who in the years to come should get their first view of Chicago's greatness from the lake.

Has this plan been shelved for lack of "pull"? CITIZEN.

CONFLICT AMONG THE ESPERANTISTS.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Esperantists boast a great deal about their international congresses, but in Dresden, Germany, where the conservative Esperantists of the world met last summer, the public has since that time turned in large numbers to the new "simplified Esperanto," and over 500 persons are studying it. In many other European cities there are similar facts to report. Three-quarters of the scientist adherents of the old style Esperanto have deserted it within the last few months because they have become tired of the promises of the reactionary leaders that the language will become simplified in the course of time by "natural evolution." At present there is no professional philologist who advocates the unchanged dialect of Dr. Zamenhof. The old style Esperanto belongs to the past, to the simplified Esperanto of the Parisian scientists the future. H. J. KNORR.

PROTEST BY A FARMER'S WIFE.

Lombard, Ill., Nov. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Let me say a word for the poor farmer and the old cow. We are shipping contagious diseases to Chicago in milk cans (so the health department tells us), and of course the poor underfed and overfed babies are made sick (so we read) by the poor milk. Now, I will say if the milk is poor you will find it is doped in the city, not on the farm. No, sir! As a farmer's wife I know what I am talking about, having fed seven babies from birth on cow's milk and every one is strong and well. Many infants are killed every year because the mothers don't know how to care for them. They feed them food that is unfit for the little stomachs. Yes, it has dysentery or cholera infantum. These are only names for the result of poisoning with unfit food—not the good old cow's milk. If Chicago has lots of money to spend, let the health department teach young mothers how to care for babies. It will give the farmer and the old cow a rest. S. K.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

THE GOVERNOR AND THE BOSS.
A Melodrama in Four Acts.
BY
G. F. BRAGDON AND W. POSTANCE.
Presented in the Great Northern Theater, Chicago, by W. H. Turner and Company, Nov. 15, 1908. The Cast:

| | |
|---|---|
| Senator Timothy McCormick | William H. Turner |
| David Graham | Homer Barton |
| Hon. George Vincent | Albert C. Henderson |
| Inspector Schmidt | Charles J. Diem |
| Judge William Brokaw | George W. Williams |
| Tommy Belknap | William Weston |
| Robert Wilkinson | George Wilson |
| Dominick Buckley | James E. Brooks |
| Ethel Forsythe | Edith Yeager |
| Rose Walton | Maud Barber |
| Dorothy Graham | Florence Wilmot |

Two busy little imitation muckrakers have found their way to the theaters of the people. They are the authors of "The Governor and the Boss," which is the bill in the Great Northern this week. "The G. and B." is "The Man of the Hour" done over and trimmed both down and up—down in quality, up in excitement. Last night the audience was big enough to push the orchestra out of its pit to make room for additional seats, and appeared to divide its attention between a desire to applaud uproariously and giggle doubtfully.

It was restless, for instance, when the wily villain (and him the mayor of New York City, too) succeeded in inducing a certain near-lady friend of his to swear that the real hero of the play, a pure young candidate for governor on the independent ticket, had been the cause of her fall from the social set in which she formerly could hold up her head proudly and look any woman squarely in the eye. And it applauded vigorously when, later in the evening, the same villain was laid low and exposed by that same hero, and his friend, a party boss.

The main thread of the story runs parallel to the conduct of a gubernatorial campaign. The Republican boss, in an effort to get even with the candidate of his own party, whom he knows to be an awful person morally, throws the strength of his machine to the independent candidate, who is mounted on a platform of reform planks and running as though it were a treadmill. The crooked politician thereupon attempts to blacken the name of his rival by casting the almost-lady at his feet with her trumped up charge. He is fearfully beaten in the end, however, as we hope all wicked politicians will be some day, and the governor and the boss have their innings.

W. H. Turner, for several seasons the David Harum favorite of the No. 2 circuit, plays the boss with considerable unction and frequent bursts of defiance that please the audience immensely. Homer Barton is the pure young independent with a Robert Haines voice and manner and a determination to remain virtuous in spite of all. Edith Yeager is the heroine, Maud Barber the worried stenographer, and Albert Henderson the hisser (villain).

Faithful Phoebe Davies.

Phoebe Davies, as an actress and woman, may have a few faults, but neither disobedience nor stubbornness is one of them. She is back again playing Anna Moore in "Way Down East," although she swore by all her gods that never again would she face that Grismer-Brady snow storm. She went so far as to get a new play all ready for production, but when the season came on, and it seemed wise to postpone the presentation of "Mrs. Tantalus" and Anna Moore began crying for help, out went the obedient one to start the season. Last night she performed her heart tearing specialty for the ten thousandth time midst the customary tear shower.

"Way Down East" began its annual turkey engagement in McVicker's theater with all the seats sold. There seemed to be as much laughter and as much applause as usual, so it can truthfully be recorded that the customary success was scored. John Armstrong is the hard headed squire, John T. Brennan the ever joyous Hi Holler, Charles Burke the dancing constable, Ella Hugh Wood the gossiping lady, James Galloway the Seth Holcomb, Ulric Collins the blonde and faithful David, Robert Taber the brunette and deceitful city chap, and Mabel Strickland the ingénue.

Two Brief Visitors.

There does not appear to be any question of the success of Walker Whiteside and "The Melting Pot" so far as Chicago is concerned. The company came in from the frost belt last night and gave a single performance in the Grand opera house to as many people as the theater would hold. In consequence two performances are announced for next Sunday, the first a popular priced matinée.

In the Chicago opera house the Stewart Opera company, which has been singing in the west, gave two performances of "The Geisha" yesterday afternoon and last night. The organization appeared a fairly well equipped stock opera company. Adele Oswald, the prima donna, is blessed with a particularly pleasing mezzo soprano voice, and sang "The Jewel of Asia" song to three earned encores. Hattye Fox was likewise a favorite, because of a neat little dance she performed, and the others did their best. The costuming and staging were complete without being elaborate.

Around the Theaters.

At the end of this week Chicago will have a Parisian as well as an English music hall of which to boast. Saturday night next the new Garden theater, built on the site of the old Brooke's Casino, at Wabash avenue and Peck court, is to be opened with the first local performance of "A Winning Miss," a musical comedy written by Harold Atteridge and William Peters. In the Garden theater it will be possible to feed the hungry and give drink to those that thirst during the performances, while those who do not will find a regulation parquet section reserved for them.

The Hull House Dramatic association, under Mrs. Pelham's direction, will present Samuel Foote's comedy, "The Liar," and an original one act play, "The Slave," in Hull House theater Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. In honor of the event there is to be a special table d'hôte dinner served in the coffee house both evenings.

George Cohan has written a new song for "The Yankee Prince" and is now singing it in place of the "Think It Over Carefully" number. "There Is Nothing New Beneath the Sun" is the title.

The Donald Robertson players will give a third performance of "Zaragueta," a Spanish comedy by Messrs. Carrion and Aza, in Fullerton hall, Art institute, Wednesday evening. Prof. Burton's "Rahab" was announced for revival, but the change has been found necessary.

In "A Girl at the Helm" a new motor boat race is now a feature. In this race real water and a moving picture effect are combined, putting Cecil Lean and Lee Kohlmar as the rival motorists through an exciting finish. Two new songs have likewise been added, "The Ghost of Ragtime" and "The Marriage Game." BURNS MANTLE.

Zeisler Recital.

Mrs. Bloomfield-Zeisler vouchsafes but a single recital a year to her Chicago admirers and friends. She modestly deems that and an appearance with the Thomas Orchestra all that they would care for from her, and they, willing or no, must need be content or seem as much. The rarity of her offering tends to enhance its powers to attract, and the recital therefore becomes an "event" in the life of many of her followers. Yesterday was the favored day for them, and enough of them to fill a goodly proportion of Orchestra Hall assembled in that concert room to do her homage, to listen to her performance, and to reward her with applause and recalls.

Indulgence was asked for her before the recital began, the announcement being made that for two days she had been suffering with acute neuritis of the right arm and was still in a feverish condition, but that "with customary pluck she had determined not to disappoint her audience and would appear." She came forward smiling as usual, and was cordially welcomed.

The recital which followed called for no indulgence. She was technically at her best, and temperamentally there was discoverable no trace of unfavoring condition. In fact it seemed she played with greater fire and more of her accustomed intensity than she had for several seasons past.

The program began with a group consisting of the Rameau Gavotte and Variations, Couperin's "La Fleurie" and the Schumann "Papillons." The Zeisler precision and infallibility in technic were in full evidence in these, as in all that followed. There are few pianists whose performance impresses so strongly with labor and consideration having been expended upon every note as does that of Mrs. Zeisler. Everything is exactly and unfailingly in its place, and the result is clarity and accuracy brought to their highest power. The Rameau was played with admirable contrast and abundant brilliancy, the Couperin number brought the pianist's singing tone to the fore, and the Schumann mosaic was polished and finished until its every fragment shone and glittered. A Chopin group was made up of the Fantasie op. 49, the D-flat Nocturne, which with the Fantasie Impromptu that followed were among the most effective performances of the afternoon, and the A-flat Ballade.

The third section of the recital made demands upon Debussy, Schuett, Delibes, and Tschaikowsky-Pabst. Debussy was drawn upon for the Prelude from his "For the Piano." It is a vast lot of notes and a woefully small quantity of inspiration or idea. The ability to put notes on paper may make a composer. If so Debussy certainly is a great one, and his Prelude is a masterwork. But if music needs to be founded upon at least something of inspiration and a hint of a melodic line that is not absolutely meaningless or banal, then much of the work of this "great" Frenchman must fare rather badly in estimate. Mrs. Zeisler played the notes faultlessly, and tried to make herself and her hearers believe that they meant something.

Schuett's "Valse Parisienne" is a bit ponderous perhaps for the adjective in its title, but it is a brilliant, rhythmic piece of writing, and found favor as given with dash by the pianist. The Tschaikowsky-Pabst "Eugen Onegin" paraphrase followed, and was played with abundant temperament and technical bravour. Recalls were numerous and resulted finally in a brilliant performance of the Schubert-Liszt "Erlking."

Angell-Hamlin Concert.

Saturday afternoon a concert was given in Orchestra hall under the auspices of the Service club. The house was only partly filled, but it is understood that many seats had been sold and that the worthy charity for which the entertainment was arranged profited well. The audience was of the chilly sort not infrequent at such fashionable benefit affairs, and the pianist, Miss Mary Angell, and the tenor, George Hamlin, had not the easiest time of their careers rousing the hearers to even moderate expression of enjoyment. The people doubtless did enjoy, but they reserved the showing of it.

Miss Angell accomplished her rentrée before the Chicago public after a few years spent in study in Vienna. She had proven her metal in the seasons before she went away, had been recognized as a young pianist of fine promise, and her return was therefore awaited with interest. She comes back fresh from the Leschetizky workshop and with all the virtues and faults of the new products of that famous pianistic manufactory. Technic she has in abundance—nearly every one who goes there gets that. She played her every selection on Saturday with a brilliancy and a precision that showed her fingers had been trained to do all the mechanical feats that virtuoso piano playing demands. It all was so technically perfect that the discriminative hearer wished it were less so. It would have been nearer human had it possessed an occasional slip and inaccuracy. And piano playing wholly to satisfy must, after all, be at least near human. Miss Angell has perfected its mechanics beyond that point. Her tone, especially in cantilena, has all of the overbigness and aggressiveness that the new Leschetizkyite invariably calls his own and which only a few of the older ones succeed in getting rid of as the years pass by. Leschetizky himself and the great among his pupils have modified this huge tone that is dug and pressed out of the keyboard, and they lend it roundness and beauty. But the new devotee never brings it to that point until years of playing and an awakening to realization of what constitutes beauty in piano tone have led them to change. Miss Angell has the big tone. It is only to be hoped she may realize quickly the need of making it something more than merely big. She played before she went abroad with so much more of true musical sentiment and so much finer sense for what constitutes real pianistic beauty, that there is hope for her bringing these merits again to the fore. She has mastered technic. What she needs now to do is to free herself from its mechanics, and, finding her individuality again, forget a large portion of what has been drilled into her fingers during the years abroad. She has talent and musical identity. Let her find them once more and permit them to make her playing beautiful and human.

Mr. Hamlin contributed two groups of songs, of which the greatest success was achieved again by Edwin Schneider's charming songs "Your Eyes" and "Flower Rain."

The following announcement has been received and is self-explanatory: "The plan of the Chicago English Opera society to give an annual season of opera presented by local talent has been revived. As an initial step the Illinois theater has been secured for the afternoon of Tuesday, Dec. 15, and the afternoon of Thursday, Dec. 17, when 'Mignon' will be presented.

"Rehearsals have been quietly conducted for several weeks and both the cast and chorus have reached a degree of familiarity with the rôles and proficiency that has warranted the management in announcing the project. The entire receipts of the initial effort will be given to charity.

"The officers of the society are Arthur Bissell, president and director; Herman Devries, stage director; Clarence Dickinson, musical director. The members include Mme. Ragna Linné, Elaine de Sellem, Belle Forbes, Mrs. L. C. Ohrman, Jessie L. Hopkins, Grace Kennicott, John Miller, William Beard, David H. Grosch, George Nelson Holt, Dr. Hugh Shussler, Dr. William Carver Williams, George L. Tenney, and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Miller.

"The society is purely coöperative and its principal aim is perfect ensemble. The chorus will be made up of volunteers, all musical students.

"The purpose is to maintain a permanent opera society to bring out standard operas, which, while not new, are novel by reason of the infrequency of their presentation. The two performances scheduled for next month are expected to test the Chicago public as to its attitude toward a purely local operatic venture. It is felt that the musical field is well supplied in every department locally except operatic work, wherein there has been no effort save of a spasmodic nature and that of visiting organizations.

"It is the plan gradually to work up interest in the project with the expectation that later a week will be secured at a downtown theater and another season will find ready an extended répertoire." W. L. HUBBARD.

Sembrich to Say Farewell.

New York, Nov. 15.—Announcement was made here tonight that Marcella Sembrich for many years a prominent member of the Metropolitan Opera company, and accounted one of the world's leading opera sopranos, would retire from the stage at the close of the present opera season. Mme. Sembrich will, it is stated, say good-by to the stage of the Metropolitan in February, sailing for Europe to appear by invitation in the European opera houses with which her name is associated. She made her first appearance at the Metropolitan twenty-five years ago.

Work with a Will.

We are not sent into this world to do anything into which we cannot put our hearts. We have certain work to do for our bread and that is to be done strenuously; other work to do for our delight and that is to be done heartily; neither is to be done by halves or shifts, but with a will; and what is not worth this effort is not to be done at all.—John Ruskin.

BIBLE STUDENTS DEFEND MAE OTIS

Church Worker to Ask Continuance Today for Alleged Matricidal Plotter.

QUEER POWER IS NOTED.

Fascination Which Attracted Two Women Promises to Be Factor in the Case.

Her strange fascination for other women—two of them in particular—promises to become a big factor in the final disposition of Miss Mae L. Otis, alleged matricidal plotter, charged with conspiring to take a human life.

Matters developed yesterday which resulted in her friends deciding to ask Judge Dicker for a continuance when the case is called today. The request will be made by Frank L. Wood, president of the Wesleyan bible class of the Western Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, of which class Miss Otis is secretary.

The young woman's troubles were taken up by the bible class after devotional exercises yesterday afternoon, and resolutions expressing confidence in her innocence and a determination to give her all aid possible were passed. Subsequently about 150 members of the class went in a body to the Wood residence, 232 South Campbell avenue, where Miss Otis and her mother are stopping pending the outcome of the case, and were greeted warmly.

Believes Conspiracy Charge Weak.

Mr. Wood, with her legal friends, believes that the conspiracy charge will fall. It is the hope of Capt. P. D. O'Brien and others that sufficient evidence might be produced before Judge Dicker to warrant him in binding her over for grand jury action. But if Judge Dicker does not hold her the authorities will still have recourse to the detention court, and this step is planned unless her friends decide to have her placed in a sanitarium of their own accord.

Miss Otis dressed plainly and never showed any extravagant habits, and out of the $2 daily she has earned for years, it is pointed out, should have saved some money. Instead of remaining home with her mother, she quit that domicile nearly fifteen years ago and resided with other women. She lavished her money on them.

Says She Is Subject to Suggestion.

"The opinion drawn yesterday for submission to the court by Drs. J. G. Kiernan, Harriet C. Alexander, and City Physician L. Blake Baldwin says: 'Miss Otis has been a bookkeeper and accustomed to adjusting claims.

"'She forms an attachment for another woman, aids this woman financially, and gets into financial stress by so doing. Miss Otis is suffering from a nervous disorder which would render her subject to impulses from suggestion.

"'In place of ascertaining through a lawyer about her financial affairs and her father's will she first goes to a police lieutenant to complain of an actual usurpation of her rights by her mother. The police lieutenant refers her to a judge of the Criminal court, but she pays no attention to this advice. She, however, consults a detective as to the means of securing her rights from her mother. Where a logical business man or woman would take a direct method, she takes the indirect method characteristic of the insane.

Is Believed Mentally Unstable.

"'During the conversation with the detective he suggested "mysterious disappearance." Although she did not accept the suggestion she was not shocked by it, and persisted in securing his services and paid him $100. Taking the facts as stated, it seems clear that she is a mentally unstable individual with a tendency to imperative impulses and a moral anesthesia, or lack of feeling.'"

Prof. T. P. Giddings of the high school faculty will display a new style kitchen which he has invented.

DUNNING COMMITTEE TO MEET.

Alfred G. Lanio Confident Colleagues Will Assemble Today in County Asylum Inquiry.

Alfred G. Lanio, chairman of the county board committee on Dunning institutions, who was indignant when a meeting of his associates called for Friday failed to materialize, is confident that a meeting will be held this afternoon. To secure the attendance of the other commissioners on the committee he has sent each of them a personal summons to report at the county board rooms at 2 o'clock.

"TAG DAY" PLANS COMPLETED

Thousand Young Women Will Seek Contributions to Charity.

POLICE SANCTION OBTAINED.

Schuettler Even Promises to Point Out Busse to Collectors.

If your occupation takes you downtown on Tuesday, Nov. 24, and you don't wear a little round tag swinging from your coat lapel, you're likely to be classified as a "grouch," a "tight wad," or whatever else may denote a spirit of miserliness—and you don't "belong."

One week from tomorrow is "Tag day," when nearly a thousand young women will invade downtown office buildings, steam and elevated railroad stations, city and county buildings, armed with little tags to fasten to your buttonhole in return for a contribution to the cause of children's charities. So if you suddenly are confronted by a smiling young woman, and a suggestive motion toward your coat lapel is made, just stand still while you are "tagged," search your pockets for change—or bills, if you like—hand the amount over, and go on your way with a pleasant feeling of having done your duty. You are a philanthropist, an optimist, a good Samaritan, and everything else that is big hearted and good natured, and the little tag swinging from your buttonhole proves it.

"Tag day" will be a definite fact and occasion, despite rumors of slight misunderstandings and opposition. It was reported that Supt. Wilson of the bureau of charities had declared that children found soliciting donations on the streets would be subject to arrest. But Supt. Wilson misunderstood the plans for "Tag day," and when he was informed that the collectors would consist of none but young women, said he had made the threat under a misapprehension and that "Tag day" would have his heartiest support.

Still doubtful concerning possible obstacles or misunderstandings, Mrs. M. K. Wood and a committee of women called on Assistant Superintendent of Police Schuettler to make certain that everything will be "all right."

"Why, bless you, of course it will be all right," said Schuettler. "Go ahead—and don't forget the city hall and county building. If you send some of the young women around I'll see that they get a chance to tag Mayor Busse."

It is expected that enough tags will be pinned on the coats of enough men to raise a fund that will greatly help the Children's Aid society, the Boys' Shelter club of Allandale farm, the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children, the Margaret Etter crèche, and the South Side Free Dispensary for Children.

DECISION ON KEMP CHARGES TO BE DELAYED FOR A WEEK.

Absence of the Rev. Charles P. Anderson Necessitates Postponement in Final Verdict Regarding Accused Rector.

The decision of the commission weighing the charges against the Rev. Robert Morris Kemp, former rector of St. Chrysostom's church, will not be made public this week.

The final opinion, which has been under consideration for several days, has not been drafted, and as the Rt. Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, to whom it will be submitted, is leaving the city for a week's stay, it will not be drawn up until his return.

The matter rests in the hands of Judge Jesse Holdom of the Appellate court, the Rev. Simon Blinn Blunt of the Church of the Redeemer, and the Rev. Arthur Y. Little of St. Mark's church, Evanston, and they refuse to disclose either their collective or individual views. It is rumored that they are not agreed upon the merits of the charges against the minister.

DOCTORS DIFFER ABOUT DEATH.

Miss Agatha Slowik Expires at Sanitarium and Physicians Make Conflicting Statements.

Miss Agatha Slowik died Saturday afternoon, a few hours after she had been taken from her residence, 318 Cornell street, to Dr. Lane's private sanitarium, 3117 Lincoln street. Following the report of the death to the coroner's office conflicting statements were made by physicians concerning the condition of the woman immediately before her death.

Dr. O. W. Lewke, coroner's physician, said death probably was due to pneumonia.

Dr. G. W. Mencieweski, 442 Noble street, said:

"I was called to attend her several days ago for indigestion. I diagnosed her trouble as tuberculosis and advised her removal to a hospital. She died after a bath, I was told."

GAMES WITH EAST LEAVE A STING.

Chicago's Tie with Cornell and Michigan's Defeat Disappointing.

GOOD WORK BY MAROONS.

Stagg's Defense Checks Vaunted Ithacan Attack While Offense Nets Many Gains.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Results of the two intersectional football games on Saturday were a disappointment to westerners. Many thought Chicago would win from Cornell and that Michigan at least would hold Pennsylvania to a much closer count. It was a hard blow to western football for the easterners to come west and decisively carry off the honors in one case and divide laurels in the other.

As was expected, Cornell attacked Chicago hammer and tongs with old line plays directed at center and off tackles, using the forward pass and onside kick sparingly. When the Ithacans had the Maroon secondary defense drawn up close to the scrimmage they cut loose with a cleverly executed forward pass which netted their only score late in the first period.

Stagg again proved that he is just as great a defensive coach as an offensive teacher by having his line drilled to the point where it successfully met every onslaught of the easterners. Cornell gained some of the time, but this was expected.

Weak Line Not So Weak.

Kelley and Hoffman did good work and always were under the concentrated attacks, while the latter showed up strongly against O'Rourke, supposed to be one of the best tackles in the east. Hirschl, a comparatively new man, frequently broke through and spoiled plays before they were started. Iddings, the old reliable ground gainer, was in the game from start to finish and made numerous short gains on cross tackle dives, never failing to make at least three yards. In the interference he largely was responsible for most of Crowley's gains by smothering the smashing back in fine style. Worthwine is improving with every game and plainly showed that he is a better back field man than forward.

Steffen played his usual brilliant game and, although a marked man, showed the easterners a few things about open field running. His judgment in the selection of plays could not have been excelled. The play on which Chicago scored was exactly the one to use when close to an opponent's goal, as the secondary defense was pulled up to reinforce the line, which makes it easier to work forward passes.

Cornell Slow in Starting.

Cornell lived up to the reputation which preceded it, and the only criticism of its play was the slowness on offense. Many times the visitors were threatened with penalties for unnecessarily delaying the game, and they were foxy enough to call for time when Chicago had its offense going down the field. Coach Larkin was alert to every situation, and sent substitutes in to warn the rest of the team that a certain Chicago player was out against the side lines undetected, or that some other clever play was about to be pulled off. This fact alone saved many a long run for Cornell, and possibly the game.

In general, it is safe to say that Chicago earned at least a tie, as a glance at the chart shows the Maroons gained much more ground in every department of the game. It also may be said that fate was against Stagg's team, as two scores were missed by the narrowest margins, once when Schommer's attempted place kick missed by scarcely a foot, and the other when Steffen fumbled a forward pass, which was high, but which, if caught, would have resulted in a touchdown.

Blow to Michigan Football.

Michigan's defeat by Pennsylvania, although expected in Ann Arbor, was the hardest blow Wolverine football has received in many a day. It has been a mighty long time since any team ran up a total of 29 points on Michigan, and to say the Wolverine rooters and students were disappointed is putting it mildly.

Michigan was not alert to every situation as was shown at the start of the second half, when the Quakers worked the short kickoff and recovered the ball on their opponents' thirty-five yard line. Seeing Michigan was up in the air because of the success of this play, Keinath immediately called for a forward pass which worked like a charm and placed the oval on Michigan's ten yard line. At this point there was no bucking the line, but a tackle was shifted and Hollenback went around the strong side for a score two minutes after the half opened.

The clever way in which the easterners pulled off these three plays put Michigan completely in the air and Penn gained where and when it pleased after that. Coach Metzer realized he had the game safe at this point and sent in many substitutes, whose playing compared favorably with that of the regulars.

First Half Even Battle.

The first half of the game was evenly fought and had Wasmund, Michigan quarter, made a dive at Draper when the latter received a well executed forward pass, there would have been no scoring in the first period. Again, Pennsylvania might never have scored this touchdown had the Michigan players bodychecked Draper, but instead they stood around waiting for the Quaker to make the catch before they tried to tackle him. In the meantime, Penn players came up and knocked the waiting Wolverines out of the way so Draper could vary to the throw unmolested.

Schulz, while he was in, played a fierce, aggressive game, outplaying the heralded Marks all the time. Not only did the Wolverine captain stop all plays at the center, but he went out to the wings and nailed the runner time and time again with vicious tackles. He also recovered many punts and fumbles, and his absence in the latter part of the game greatly demoralized Michigan. Capt. Hollenback of Pennsylvania was a veritable demon in every department of the game. His punting, end running, interference, and defensive qualities were of the highest caliber.

Comment on Other Games.

Illinois defeated Purdue in a well played game, 15 to 6 at Lafayette. The state eleven bids fair to rank among the topnotchers in western football this year, and it should win its remaining game with Northwestern on Saturday.

Princeton and Yale met in their annual battle in the east and the result practically was the same as last season, when the Tigers had the advantage in the first period, but the bulldog grit of the Blue eleven succeeded in pulling a victory out of the fire. No matter how hard Princeton may fight, Yale always fights a little harder and wins out by this faculty alone.

Harvard succeeded in winning a hard game from Dartmouth, 6 to 0, in which the best the Crimson had was called into action to decide the issue. With both Yale and Harvard winning their battles, these eastern giants will struggle for supremacy Saturday in what ought to be the greatest contest of the year.

HYDE PARK TEAM MAY GET TRIP.

Victory Over Englewood Likely to Result in Contest with Minneapolis Central Eleven on Thanksgiving.

With the defeat of Englewood by Hyde Park on Saturday, which tied the blue and white team with Englewood and Crane for the championship, it is probable that the Hyde Park team will be the one to play Minneapolis Central on Thanksgiving day. The Hyde Parkers put up a game 50 per cent stronger than against University High, and its improvement is marked. More information has been received as to the kind of ball the Minneapolis boys play, and it is said that "Punk" Webster, the old Minneapolis tackle, has developed some new plays, which has been the chief reason for Central's excellent record against heavier teams this season. Hyde Park players are in favor of meeting the Minneapolis boys, and the blue and white team will accept the challenge.

STAGG WARNS HIS MAROONS

Wishes to Prevent Overconfidence Against Badgers.

FIGURES ON CORNELL GAME.

Table Shows Chicago Gained More Ground than Visitors.

"Wisconsin will be a harder foe for Chicago than Cornell."

Thus spoke Director Stagg yesterday—obviously to boil down the enthusiasm of the Maroons, developed to a bubbling over point by their ability to gain practically twice as much ground in every sort of football as Cornell did, even though the Maroons were held to a tie score.

It was evident that Stagg feared a touch of overconfidence among his players more than he did the Wisconsin team, although he said he believed the Badger offense would prove far more varied and stronger than the attack with which the "Big Red" team assailed the Midway eleven. In defense also, Stagg said he anticipated just as strong a front on the part of Wisconsin as Cornell showed.

Confidence on the Midway.

Everywhere about the campus yesterday there was a feeling that Wisconsin would prove delectable diet, more or less on account of the deceptive, shifting and varied attack of the Maroons as shown in both the Minnesota game and the Cornell contest.

So the wisdom of Prof. Stagg was expressed in the following fashion: "Those who believe we will have an easy time with Wisconsin will be badly mistaken. I consider the Badgers a stronger team than any we have met this year. It has been said that the Wisconsin team is crude and rough in team work, but I know this to be absolutely wrong. I have seen Wisconsin myself and I know different.

"The game should prove the best of the year, I believe. I would not think of making a prophecy. For instance, we gained twice as much ground as Cornell did and yet we came out only with a tied score. Still, we do not claim to be a better team than Cornell. We believe we are just as good."

Maroons Gain More Ground.

An aftermath consideration of the Cornell game, showing in comparison how effective the maroon attack was against Cornell, was presented yesterday by a review of the game from several points of view. Director Stagg's tabulation of figures was as follows:

Ground gained in carrying back punts—First half, Chicago, 60 yards; Cornell, 15 yards. Second half, Chicago, 54 yards; Cornell, 54 yards [one run of 40 yards]. Total, Chicago, 114 yards; Cornell, 69 yards.

Ground gained in scrimmage play—First half, Chicago, 141 yards; Cornell, 85 yards. Second half, Chicago, 181 yards; Cornell, 54 yards. Total, Chicago, 322 yards; Cornell, 139 yards.

Ground gained by onside kicks—First half, Chicago, 67 yards; Cornell, 91 yards. Second half, Chicago, 50 yards; Cornell, no gain. Total, Chicago, 117 yards; Cornell, 91 yards.

Ground gained by forward passes—First half, Chicago, 44 yards [four successfully executed]; Cornell, 30 yards [one successfully executed]. Second half, Chicago, 21 yards [two successfully executed]; Cornell, no gain [no successfully executed play]. Total, Chicago, 65 yards; Cornell 30 yards.

Losses from penalties—First half, Chicago, 35 yards; Cornell, 30 yards. Second half, Chicago, 20 yards; Cornell, 30 yards. Total, Chicago 55 yards; Cornell, 60 yards.

Total ground gained on carrying back punts, in scrimmage play, and by onside kicks—Chicago, 553 yards; Cornell, 280 yards.

Needs a V. P. Column?

This indicates that in every department of attack the Maroons had a wide margin over the Cornellians, and the wonder of it is that the Maroons gained just five times the length of the gridiron to get their one touchdown in sixty-nine minutes of play.

There was much mirth among the Maroon players yesterday in the comment of Lewis Henry, editor-in-chief of the Cornell Daily Sun, on the game from a Cornell point of view. The criticism of the Maroons' shoestring trick in comparing it with the historical trick of a Carlisle Indian of concealing the ball beneath his jersey, and declaring that when this play—the shoestring trick—"becomes more widely known" it "will be accorded the same odium that appertained to the other," created great laughter among the coaches and players.

Chicago came out of the game with Cornell with much luck. Page was the only player bumped in the least. He received a slight kick in the stomach, which pained him during the game. It cannot be considered an injury. Stagg, accordingly, will have his team in perfect shape for the Badgers unless some of the players are hurt in scrimmage this week.

LOOK FORWARD TO PENN GAME.

Cornell Team Returns to Ithaca Disappointed at Not Beating Chicago and Will Prepare for Quakers.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Cornell football team reached this city at noon today from Chicago, where it played a tie game with the Maroon eleven on Saturday. The Ithacans were somewhat disappointed because Chicago forced its way through them in the last few minutes for a touchdown and tied the score, but they take the result philosophically and will begin hard training tomorrow for the contest with Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving.

YALE TEAM FINDS NEW CAMP.

Coaches Send Players to Ardsley-on-the-Hudson to Begin Work for Harvard Game.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Yale football coaches today sent the varsity eleven to Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, the country home of Dewitt Cochrane, formerly Yale's quarter back, to begin their campaign for the Harvard game. They sat in a coaching war council this evening and decided to make several changes in the lineup. The players will not attempt any work tomorrow.

LOCAL LEAGUE PLAYER HURT.

Gallagher of Morris Team Is in Dazed Condition for Three Hours After Being Tackled—Soldiers Beaten.

The Morris Athletic club defeated the First Regiment team yesterday at Morris field, 19 to 6, and eliminated the soldiers from the semi-annuals of the championship race of the Chicago Football league. Near the end of the game Gallagher, right end of the Morris team, was tackled by the neck just as he was in the act of catching a forward pass. He landed on his head, and for three hours he was in a dazed condition.

LOCAL FOOTBALL GAMES.

In a fiercely fought gridiron battle at the west side ball park, yesterday, the Mohawks defeated the Waukegans by a score of 23 to 6. At the end of the first half the score stood 6 to 6.

Anson's Colts defeated the Mohawk A. C. eleven, 5 to 0, at Anson's park yesterday in one of the fastest games played this season in the Chicago Football league. The winning touchdown came in the last few minutes of play, when St. John went over.

With "Jimmie" Turner at quarter back the Normals had no trouble in winning from the Seventh regiment eleven at Normal Park by a lopsided score of 39 to 0. Some new formations were instituted by the former Dartmouth quarter back and the Seventh regiment was at a loss to know how to stop them.

Kenosha played the Silver Swans to a 6 to 6 tie yesterday at Artesian park. By constant drives at the opposing line the Swans scored a touchdown, G. Christianson carrying the ball over. Left Guard Morch of Kenosha picked up the ball on a fumble and charged through a broken field for Kenosha's touchdown.

MONROE LEAGUE BOWLERS IN CLOSE RACE FOR FIRST PLACE.

Howards and Blouins Tied, with Promise of Long Struggle—Woodbury's Individual Average Best in City.

One of the best local bowling races ever contested is that in the Monroe league, where the Howards and Blouins are tied for first place. It looks like a battle to the finish between the record holders and the team which won out two seasons under the name of Blue Islands. "Chuck" Collier leads the individuals, but has only a margin of two pins over Pete Howley.

Charley Mountain's Glenwoods are making a big spurt in the new Glenwood league, being now four games ahead of the Gibbons. Dave Woodbury has the highest individual average in the city with 207 14-18.

Woodlawns, 3; Campbell Rovers, 1.
Hyde Park Blues, 3; Harvey, 0.
Hyde Park Albions, 1; MacDuffs, 1.

By winning from the Campbell Rovers in the eighth round of the Association Football League of Chicago the Woodlawns gained a clean lead of three points in the fall section of the schedule. The Hyde Park Blues added two points at the expense of the Harvey team, while the MacDuffs and Hyde Park Albions maintained their relative positions by getting a draw.

Woodlawns Win 3 to 1.

The meeting of the leaders at Hand's park was the star attraction of the afternoon and while the Campbell Rovers lost, 3 goals to 1, the Woodlawns did not display quite as good football as the champions. Scott twisted his ankle in the middle of the first half, and for the rest of the game the Rovers had only ten men. They made a plucky fight, breaking even in the first half at 1 to 1, and for a long period in the second half held the Woodlawns, who were facing the strong wind, on the defensive. Then the home team rallied and scored twice in quick succession, putting the game on ice. Lineup:

| Woodlawns [3]. | | Campbell Rovers [1]. |
|---|---|---|
| Linley | Goal | Wyllie |
| Cuthbert | Right back | Scott |
| Dixon | Left back | Ferguson |
| S. Govier | Right half back | Blair |

| Buchanan | Outside left | Darling |

Hyde Park Blues, 3; Harvey, 0.

The Hyde Park Blues played nine men against Harvey through the first half, as Muir and McKay did not appear. They held the suburbanites 0 to 0. In the second half the Blues filled in with Little and Barker and counted three times. Lineup:

| Hyde Park Blues [3]. | | Harvey [0]. |
|---|---|---|
| Roberts | Goal | Thompson |
| Heale | Right back | Service |
| Rogers | Left back | Dempsey |
| W. Parker | Right half back | Erickson |
| J. Watt | Center half back | Simonson |
| W. Brown | Left half back | Sutton |
| Evans | Outside right | Kaasa |
| Barker | Inside right | Wettengel |
| Morris | Center | Williamson |
| J. Little | Inside left | Gelagher |

MacDuffs, 1; Albions, 1.

At the west side driving park the MacDuffs and Hyde Park Albions broke even at 1 to 1. It was a well played game, but marked by considerable rough work. The Albions counted in the first half, when playing with the wind. The home team equalized in the second half and put the ball into the net a second time but the goal was not allowed.

Kickers in the Chicago League of Association Football completed their fall series yesterday, the Hibernians by winning from the Davitts getting a clean slate. They have one draw against them, which probably will be awarded as a win. The Hammonds won from the Corinthians and clinched third place, while the West Side Rangers drew with the Sherman Parks.

GAELIC ALL STARS BEAT CHAMPIONS.

Dalcassians, with Captain Absent, Prove Prey for Picked Hurlers.

FINAL SCORE IS 5 TO 2.

Wind in First Period Aids Crippled Team Which Finally Succumbs to Attack.

Without the service of Capt. Murphy, who is in a hospital suffering with blood poisoning from an injury received in the St. Louis game last week, and with several other stars absent, the champion Dalcassians were humbled yesterday at Gaelic park by a score of 5 to 2, by a team picked from the other aggregations in the Gaelic league. In the football contest the Columbias shut out the Clan-na-Gaels by 5 to 0.

Playing with the wind in the first half the Dalcassians scored two points to their opponents' one. In the second period the Dalcassians played on the defensive, and the all stars counted four, while holding the champions scoreless. Lineup:

| All Stars [5]. | | Dalcassians [2]. |

The Columbias had little difficulty in winning from the Clan-na-Gaels. At no time did the latter press their opponents to any extent, and even with the wind behind them they failed to get close enough to gain a point. Lineup:

| Columbias [5]. | | Clan-na-Gaels [0]. |

GOOD BOUT FOR PHILADELPHIA.

Eastern Fans to Have Treat When Packey McFarland and Murphy Fight Wednesday Night.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Something good in the fight game is on the local card for Wednesday when Packey McFarland and Tommy Murphy meet at the National A. C. Packey is in excellent condition. McFarland's camp at Merchantville was the scene of activity last week. With his trainer Packey jogs four or five miles every morning, and after lunch exercises with the punching bag. Outside the metropolis Murphy is putting on the finishing touches. Reports are to the effect he is working as well as ever. Following the Murphy bout Packey will go to Lancaster Thursday night and referee the encounter between George Decker and Leo Houck.

BULLS IN WHEAT STAND PAT

Unfavorable Domestic Crop Outlook Acts as Price Tonic.

MAIZE SHORTS IN A FLURRY.

Values are Bolstered on Covering Prompted by Light Movement.

With powerful hands at the wheel and all sails set, last week's wheat market was steered to a substantially loftier level. There were periods of comparative calm, but trade as a whole showed much improvement, the long inactive outside speculative element contributing materially to the volume of pit business. Floor sentiment was distinctly bullish, the position of Patten and his followers giving good color to market optimism, although the dyed in the wool bears maintained that "legitimate" conditions did not warrant all that the bulls had in mind. Realizing sales were heavy at times, but the support was sufficient throughout to hold the market strong. Week end quotations represented net advances of 1⅝c for December, 2⅝c for May, and 1⅝c for July, compared to the finals of the previous week.

Winter Wheat Outlook Unfavorable.

The bulls made the most of unfavorable advices concerning the winter wheat situation, and they pulled strongly on the admittedly unsatisfactory outlook in important producing regions of northern Europe. Conditions in the Argentine lost much effectiveness as governing factors, and messages late in the week indicated that the situation in the southern republic had taken a turn for the better, rains relieving the long drought in the southern provinces. However, the more rabid bulls continued to figure that in the long run the Argentine situation would serve as a leading ingredient in the general market tonic. There still is much guessing as to the probable exportable surplus in Argentina, but on Saturday one investigator estimated that that country would have about 147,000,000 bu available for shipment.

Recent rains have improved the outlook in important parts of the domestic winter wheat country, but conservative investigators say that conditions suggest an unfavorable outlook. Many sections report that the plant has suffered irreparable damage as a result of the long spell of dry weather, which not only has delayed and curtailed seeding operations, but has checked the progress of the grain in the ground. One of the foremost crop experts declared that the bullish situation in Ohio and Michigan, as indicated by the state reports, was duplicated in several other states, both west and east of the Mississippi. Conditions in Germany and Hungary are said to be identical with those in our own winter wheat territory, and much of the price firmness displayed at Berlin and Budapest has been directly traceable to the crop conditions.

Domestic Movement Is Liberal.

Domestic receipts have been running larger than those of a year ago, bulls showing disappointment over the steadiness of the brisk movement northwest, where reduced farmers' offerings were expected to trim down the receipts at leading distributing centers long before this. The week's total movement materially exceeded that of last year. The exports from this country and Canada last week well exceeded those of the previous week, but fell under those of the corresponding period last year. There were dashes of encouraging export demand, but the sales were confined almost entirely to durum and Manitoba wheat. Late in the week Canadian points witnessed a material let up in the foreign call for Manitoba, some of the recent purchasers selling. The general flour traffic was a little improved, although it was not sufficient to figure as a strong bull factor. Eastern stocks of the breadstuff are said to be liberal, with the current demand light and buyers calmly sitting back in expectation of price concessions.

The visible supply is not much under 50,000,000 bu, in excess of that of last year at this time, but the country elevator holdings northwest are estimated at only 7,000,000 bu, compared to about 20,000,000 bu a year ago, and 25,000,000 bu two years ago.

Corn Shorts Stirred to Covering.

Corn shorts, especially those in the December, displayed much uneasiness last week over the continued lightness of the movement from the country, considering the fine weather for moving the grain, and their covering went far toward giving the market a better tone. Country holders were said to be unwilling to sell freely at prevailing prices, although late in the week farmers in Iowa acted as though they might sell more of their grain in the near future if prices remained attractive. Week end quotations showed net advances of 1⅛c for December, ⅞@1c for May, and ⅛c for July, compared to those of the preceding period. Strength was generally characteristic of the cash market, business at times being quite active, and there were several important export nibblings at gulf and Atlantic ports.

Notwithstanding the generally fine weather, the grading of new corn received was surprisingly poor, and Illinois and Indiana increased the nervousness of shorts by reporting disappointing husking returns. The lightness of public stocks here is stirring shorts to what may be marked difficulty in making deliveries on contracts next month. General pit trade showed spurts of activity, with outsiders more interested, but the bulk of business was of a professional character.

Oats Are Independently Firm.

Although deriving benefit from the soundness of the more important cereals, oats displayed much independent strength. Considering the fine weather, excellent roads, and brisk shipping demand, receipts from the country were light, and there was little on the surface to indicate an early improvement in the movement to market. The barley crop, according to investigators, has been well cared for, and it is not expected that the movement of that cereal will be large at any time in the future. The general trade does not look for much of a change in the market, unless inclement weather should curtail the movement from the country. Bulls insist that the situation is legitimately strong and that a high level of prices will prevail indefinitely. Week end prices showed gains of 2⅜c for December, 1⅜@1½c for May, and 1¼c for July, compared to those of the previous week.

Provision List Is Easier.

Much heavier hog receipts and packing at the leading western centers than a year ago and a disappointing demand for manufactured products figured in a weaker provision market last week. Trade in the pit was only moderately active at best and prices moved within rather narrow limits. The big packers did not do much on either side of the market, and there was a falling off in the outside investment demand. Bulls believe that the situation warrants a better market after the heavy run of swine is over and they do not consider holdings of manufactured product at the principal centers as burdensome. It is expected that the movement of swine from the country will keep large for some time to come.

Week in Live Stock Trade.

A broader outlet for all beef products enabled cattle traders to dispose of the largest receipts of cattle handled here since the week ending Jan. 18, 1908. Values were greatly agitated by the increased business transacted, but although they advanced sharply on one day only to recede the next, they held within narrow bounds, and the average figure for the week at $6.00 showed no change from that of the preceding period when supplies were much lighter. At the close it was believed that the continuance of a brisk consumptive demand would insure the maintenance of present high values, but traders were advising country shippers to market stock slowly, as packers have replenished their coolers and are in a better position to keep values from making any material gains. Hog receipts exceeded those of the corresponding week a year ago by more than 100,000 head. This heavy supply enabled the packers to lower the average price for the week only 11c, however, strong er competition from eastern buyers compelling the local killers to bid up prices in spite of themselves. The close was with the market in good condition, and future prices depending upon the proportion of the arrivals the next few days. Heavy receipts resulted in a decline of 15c in the price of sheep and lambs. The demand for live mutton was much more active than during preceding weeks, however, and the market was in a good healthy shape. More conservative marketings the next few days will suffice to rally prices, and it is believed that much higher values will yet be paid for both sheep and lambs before the end of the year.

GAINS IN BUSINESS WORLD INCREASE OPTIMISTIC FEELING

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The unexpected promptness with which the security markets responded to the election of Taft and the sudden about face in the business world has led, in ultra conservative quarters, to the entertainment of a feeling of uneasiness lest the apparently changed condition of affairs be too good to be entirely true. Another week now has passed and the cheerful sentiment observed Nov. 4, not only in the financial district of the city, but in the business centers the country over, continues and increases day by day.

There is now no question that Taft's success added to the business equipment of the country one item which has been long sadly missed—courage. After an advance of 5 points or more, which occurred in the average price of securities during the preceding week, it was altogether natural that a number of sessions should be given over to liquidation. Profit taking on large lines of stocks held by professional operators explained the irregularity which marked the course of prices up to Thursday afternoon. Daily transactions ran well above 1,000,000 shares, but the closing out of these heavy lines of stocks did little more than disclose the absorptive power of the market.

Stability in Sane Revision.

If the tariff situation is met honestly and a frank attempt made to end the abuses of the tariff system and retain its good features no harm can result, but, on the other hand, greater stability in all business must result as well as increased good will toward large corporations. There is even now a noticeable betterment in the attitude of the public toward corporations. This is clearly illustrated in the general approval with which the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago confirming the upsetting of the huge fine imposed by the lower court upon the Standard Oil company has been received.

Last week call money rates touched 3 per cent and the quotation attracted some attention in Wall street for the reason that it was the highest figure reported since Jan. 25 of this year. There was nothing, however, save sentimental interest in the recording of such a rate; the money market position is abnormally easy for the season of the year, and, under the circumstances, this is an excellent thing, for it will help directly in the restoration of trade.

Last week the Illinois Central sold $20,000,000 of bonds and two days after the issue had been taken up by the bankers the price of these securities advanced some 2 points over the issue price. In conservative banking quarters the belief is entertained, and apparently with some show of reason, that during the winter there will be witnessed something like an "investment famine" if Europe, where money conditions are fully as easy as on this side, turns its attention to American securities.

General Advance in London.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Under the leadership of Americans there has been a general advance in Capel court the last week, even consols showing a gain for the first time in several weeks. The clearing in the European international situation reduced the sensitiveness which previously characterized the markets, and Wall street's continued improvement, combined with accumulating evidence of increasing business in America, brought the conviction of prosperous times ahead.

Berlin Market Improves.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Despite the unfavorable influence exerted by the German political crisis the boerse registered another week of firmness and semi-activity, due to the continued plentifulness of money and the buoyancy of the American market. The speculative movement kept the pace set by the New York operators, whose movements were observed not altogether devoid of misgivings. Canadians and Baltimores rose in sympathy with the American market.

OAK PARK DEMANDS WHEEL TAX.

Police Ordered to Make Arrests in Effort to Bring Delinquents to Time.

Drastic measures are to be taken in Oak Park this week to compel payment of the village wheel tax, only a third of which has been received, according to the officials.

Chief of Police Lee, in a statement from H. R. Hamilton, president of the suburb, has been ordered to make arrests beginning on Wednesday of all those who are delinquent.

President Hamilton informed the police that only $2,500 had been collected, while over $7,000 should be in the village coffers.

Start Tonight

On January 1st Great Britain will start its pension system. All persons 70 years old, without an income of $130 a year, will receive $1.21 a week.

If these old people began saving $1.21 a week when they were young, they would be independent today.

Old Age knocks at every door. We invite you to start an account at THIS BANK with $1 or more. Open Mondays all day until 8 o'clock in the evening.

PUBLIC NIBBLES AT STOCKS

THEY BUY AT HIGH PRICES.

And Wall Street Begins to Talk of Mergers as of Yore.

Once more the so-called public is in the New York stock market. The buying of the last week represented all phases of investment and speculation. The small speculators, who for more than three years held aloof, are again nibbling at prices, and high ones at that.

The situation so long sought by the people in high finance has been brought about. The buyer of 100 shares on margin is becoming as numerous as he was in former days when everybody bought stocks.

Former Investors Now Speculators.

One of the features of the public in the market is the fact that the small cash buyers who one year ago were tempted by low prices, are now returning to buy on margin. Some of them use their paid for securities as margin on new ventures. This class is practically a new one. The purchases it made when stocks were cheap and the profits it has since realized, have made it feel that there is money in speculation.

It will now probably proceed to lose all, if not more than it won. This will happen if the history of the stock exchange repeats itself.

When stocks had fallen anywhere from 20 to 75 points, it did not require an insider to know that they were bargains. The outsider was perfectly safe in buying for cash, as results have demonstrated. But when these same small outsiders begin to trifle with the market at high prices and without any information, they are simply making bets against the operator who is in the position to move prices up or down.

Those small purchasers who have handsome profits can regard them legitimate and liquid assets. It is the case of a profitable investment, which, if turned into cash and then into speculation, will inevitably disappear. But to realize profits and make a substantial investment is to make the best use of money earned under conditions which may not exist again for a number of years.

Insiders and Outsiders.

There are just two classes in ordinary speculation in securities. There is the one class which knows what is going to happen, because it itself will create the conditions. In a sense, this class does not speculate, since it knows substantially what is to follow.

The other class is the outsider, who gets occasional tips of no value, and merely guesses from day to day what will happen. This applies to the outsider in a market of high quotations. His only opportunity to get a square deal is after a panic such as was experienced twelve months ago.

Money Easy, Tariff Does Not Disturb.

The money situation does not promise to disturb in any sense market operations. Already there is a return flow of currency to New York. The usual November advance in interest rates has not occurred. Money is cheap now as it was in midsummer. The Bank of England rate still stands at 2½ per cent. The New York associated banks have a surplus reserve of $32,511,625, against a deficit last year of $53,666,050, and a surplus two years ago of $2,371,675.

Again, to record a fact, the belief exists that with the exit of President Roosevelt the war on corporations will cease. In consequence, there is already talk of mergers and confidence that Wall street will not be disturbed.

In the face of the beginning of hearings looking toward a revision of the tariff, United States Steel common stock is making new high records. The people back of this huge corporation act as though they felt assured there would be no change in schedules sufficient to disturb the profits of the corporation. So far as Wall street can see, the outlook is rosy. The public in the market, easy money, no fear of congress, and belief in four years of corporation management peace furnish all the elements of an old fashioned time in the markets.

Local Bank Shares.

Local bank stocks continued firm. First National has enjoyed the largest advance. The general list, however, is in good tone. Quotations follow:
